BLAST RAZES TENNESSEE SCHOOL

Walkout Is in Its Fifth Day

Strikers To Meet Tonight

A wildcat strike started by a 13-man crew in the blooming mill of the Monessen plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co. entered its fifth day today with no negotiations scheduled between the company and Local 1229, United Steelworkers (AFL-CIO), which represents the strikers.

The walkout, which started last Thursday, has idled 320 men in the blooming mill and has resulted in 80 workers being furloughed in the open hearth department, bringing the total idle to 420.

The 13 men walked off their jobs in protest over work assignments in the blooming mill's billet yard section.

The company has stated that it would not discuss the issues in dispute until the strikers return to work.

The union, on the other hand, had no comment on the situation today. Anthony Ortolona, president of Local 1229,, said this morning that "nothing will be known" until after a meeting of blooming mill employes set for 7 o'clock tonight at the CIO Building, 803 Donner Ave.

13 Suspended

The company announced yesterday that it had suspended the 13 men who touched off the strike "for instigating and participating in a strike which is in violation of a three-year contract the company signed with the union last year."

The company also sent letters to other employes in the blooming mill who walked off their jobs and reprimanded them for "violating the contract."

However, in an advertisement published by Local 1229 yesterday, the company was charged with "unwillingness to bargain with the union in good faith on the blooming mill issue."

The advertisement, printed in a Donora newspaper, said that "approximately three months prior to the new installations at the blooming mill, the union had met time and time again. . . trying to find out just how the new installations were going to affect these employes of the various blooming mill units."

"The company consistently refused to give the union this information," the ad stated.

The union claimed in the ad that numerous job changes and classifications were made by the company and that the "company failed in their contractual obligation in issuing description and classification in the required specified time even though the union consistently had requested this information prior to the new changes." The ad was signed by Joseph Miller, recording secretary.

Company officials refused to comment on the Local 1229 ad today, stating the contract calls for

IT'S REALLY RAIN!—Caught in a brief rain shower at noon today, Lawrence Spiegelberg, 381 Schoonmaker Ave., Monessen, and his five-year-old daughter Pamela are pictured watching water gush down Sixth St. Unhappily the shower was brief and did little to ease conditions brought about by a summer-long drought.

Dulles Says Crisis in Syria To Be Settled Peacefully

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today he believes the crisis in Syria will be settled peacefully.

Dulles emphasized that the United States does not favor peace at any price, and is ready to act, if necessary, to meet Russia's efforts to undermine the independence of Middle Eastern states.

He spoke as major elements of the powerful U.S. Sixth Fleet patrolled the "east-central Mediterranean" and jet fighters and other arms were being sent to several Middle East countries.

Administration officials said the U.S. plane deliveries are in various stages A dozen speedy F86 Sabre jets already have been flown into Saudi Arabia.

Dulles, at a news conference, virtually ruled out the use of armed force by this country under the Eisenhower Doctrine—unless the situation becomes much worse.

He said he does not believe there will be outright aggression by Syria. Should it occur, he added, it could be dealt with by nations in the area.

Dulles said this is the way he sees the situation today: that

Three Students Hurt in Separate School Accidents

Three students were injured in two area schools yesterday.

Donna Maria Traversarra, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Traverserra of Brownstown, suffered a fractured wrist when she fell while taking physical education at Marion Junior High School yesterday morning.

She was treated at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital and sent home.

Two Brownsville High students were admitted to the Brownsville General hospital yesterday morning at 9:40 following an accident at the high school.

Plaster from the ceiling fell and struck the two students sitting in a classroom.

Herb Wasko, 17, East Millsboro, suffered lacerations of the head and Erma Peters, 17, East Millsboro, suffered severe lacerations of the head and back.

Brownsville Students Out on Strike Today

BROWNSVILLE, Pa. (UP) — More than 800 students at Brownsville Senior High School went on "strike" today because two of their classmates were injured by falling plaster.

Shouting "We want a new school," the students paraded in front of the old three-story building and refused to enter. Some wore coal miners' helmets and carried signs saying: "New school or no school," "School unsafe for students," and "Don't save money at students' expense."

School principal Wade Whitlach made a personal appeal for the students to return, but the shouting boys and girls drowned him out.

Whitlach then conferred with Clarence Sisk, president of the Brownsville Board of Education, and classes were suspended until Thursday morning. An emergency board meeting was called for Wednesday.

Brownsville school directors have invited representatives of the Underwriters Insurance Corp. and the Brownsville Construction Co. to inspect the building with them to determine if it is safe for classes.

The student enrollment at the school is 819, and witnesses said more than 800 of the students were outside the building by 9:15 a.m.

Injured Tuesday by plaster falling from a basement ceiling were Erma Peters, 17, and Herbert Wasko, 17, both of East Millsboro. The Peters girl suffered shock and lacerations of the head and back and was admitted to Brownsville Hospital. Wasko suffered head lacerations.

Boy Faces Coroner's Jury on Friday

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A 10-year-old boy who killed his father with a shotgun blast because "he beat my mother and me" faces a coroner's jury Friday morning.

Mickey Chervenak fired a 12-gauge shotgun at his father, Michael Chervenak Jr., during a family quarrel last Friday night. The boy had been taught by his father how to load the weapon.

Mickey is the youngest person in Pittsburgh history to be charged with murder.

Local Man Is Arrested for Being Disorderly

William Shaw, 33, of 129 McKee Ave., Monessen, yesterday was charged with disorderly conduct after an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide, Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka said today

According to Kuvinka, Shaw first poured lighter fluid in his hair and set fire to it Then he went upstairs with a clothes line, tied one end around his neck and another to a rafter.

Meanwhile, his wife called police.

When police arrived they found Shaw on the floor in a semi-conscious state. Police said the rafter broke during the attempt "and that saved him"

He was revived and taken to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital Following his release, he was taken to jail and arrested on the disorderly conduct charge.

He will be given a hearing tomorrow night.

Girl Injured on Charleroi Street

Frank Spina of Broad Ave., Belle Vernon, was backing his car on a Charleroi street last night about 10:15 when he struck Joyce Guzy, 15, of 656 Highland Ave., Charleroi.

The girl was taken to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital with injuries to the left leg and spine. She was treated and released.

The accident happened at Sixth St. and McKean Ave.

Board Meeting Is Postponed

The regular meeting of the Monessen School Board scheduled for tonight has been postponed until next Tuesday night, Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent of public schools, announced today.

Several members are unable to be present tonight, he said.

Missing Youth Returns to Home

James Reconnu, 14, Charleroi, returned home after being missing since Aug. 31.

He was reported to have visited Georgia and Illinois.

Mon City Woman Acquitted

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UP)—Criminal Court Judge George T. Cummins ordered the acquittal Monday night of Mrs. Lena Trappin, 75 - year - old Monongahela great-grandmother, on a murder charge growing out of the strangulation of a 65-year-old neighbor.

At the conclusion of a five-day trial, the Washington County judge ruled the prosecution had failed to produce sufficient evidence to warrant possible conviction of the defendant and ordered the jury to return a verdict of innocent.

Mrs. Trappin, believed the oldest woman ever to stand trial for murder in the state, was accused of garroting Joseph Mancuso, a cobbler who had lived next door to her for 35 years. Mancuso's body, a belt looped around the neck, was found in the yard of Mrs. Trappin's home last May 2.

Asst. Dist. Atty. P. Vincent Marino in his closing summation had asked the jury to find the defendant, a naturalized native of Sicily, guilty of first degree murder, but did not ask the death penalty. The state had sought to link her to the slaying by circumstantial evidence, such as blood stains, clothing buttons and wisps of hair.

Defense counsel asked for a directed verdict of acquittal and Judge Cummins granted the motion.

'Can't Guess'

"I can't in good conscience, let you guess at her guilt or innocence on the basis of the evidence submitted by the Commonwealth," he told the jury.

Mrs Trappin, whose lack of English had forced her to make her denial through an interpreter during a two-hour appearance on the witness stand on the final day of the trial, did not realize the import of the judge's ruling until members of her family converged on her

Then she burst into tears. She embraced her children and grandchildren, and kissed her defense attorneys, William Robinson, Monongahela, and Ben Haseltine, Pittsburgh.

While directing acquittal, Judge Cummins expressed belief the defendant, a widow, "knows something of this slaying" and suggested state police further investigate her testimony.

In her testimony, Mrs. Trappin said Mancuso had been a frequent visitor at her home prior to the death of her husband in 1951. But after that, she said, she had seen him only a few times when he was in the yard of his home nearby.

She maintained she was asleep at the time fixed by an autopsy for the death of Mancuso. Asked to explain blood stains found on the floor of her kitchen, she said she had cut her finger on a can of tomato paste.

An FBI expert had testified the bloodstains were of the same type as the blood of the victim. He also testified hairs found in Mrs. Trappin's bedroom matched the hair of the victim.

Two Injured in Nearby Accident

Two persons were injured in an auto accident shortly after midnight today on the Fayette City-Gillespie Rd.

Taken to Charleroi - Monessen Hospital were Russell Brown, 22, of 208 Cook St, Fayette City, injuries to the face, and Charles Austin, 21, of near Fayette City, minor bruises. Brown was detained at the hospital for further examination. His condition was reported "fair."

State police said they had no report of the accident.

Woman Court Crier For Washington

Washington County today has its first woman court crier in history.

Mrs. Opal Buchanan, Claysville, was appointed yesterday to serve chiefly with Judge David H. Weiner.

The vacancy occurred when Clyde J. Tracanna resigned as court crier last Friday to enter private employment.

Rostraver School Water Problem Still not Settled

Rostraver Twp School Board agreed last night to an initial payment of $282.20 on a water bill which has been lost for the past six years.

The bill amounting to $700 68 — was mailed to the school district last month by the Pricedale Water Co. It was for water used since June of 1951 at the Vocational school building.

"We had no idea we were using water from the Pricedale company," Carter said. "All along we were under the impression that the Vocational School was serviced by the Belle Vernon Water Co. which furnishes water for the rest of our high school."

Carter said the Pricedale Water Co., itself, apparently forgot about the line into the Vocational building which was turned over to the School District some years back by the Pittsburgh Coal Co.

The bill was estimated for the six year period since no meter was installed until last week.

The directors previously balked at paying the bill on the grounds that the estimate was "out of line" Last week the Pricedale Water Co. threatened to turn off the water unless at least a partial payment was made.

Carter said the company agreed to accept $282 20 with the understanding that the bill will be revised on the basis of a three-month test period now that a meter has been installed.

District Taverns' Licenses Suspended

The state Liquor Control Board today announced the suspension of two district taverns, effective Oct. 1.

The license of Bar 51, Perryopolis, operated by Joseph Reggiannini and Elio Frankie, will be suspended 25 days for Sunday sales and permitting gambling.

A 30-day suspension was handed to Zachetti's Restaurant, Sutersville, operated by Mereno and Verina B. Zachetti, for permitting minors to frequent and sales to minors.

No One Injured At Integrated Grade School

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — A thunderous dynamite blast demolished a newly-integrated school here early today, climaxing a day and night of demonstrations and violence protesting racial mixing at the first-grade level.

Police later arrested three white men sitting in a car near another of the seven Nashville grade schools that were integrated Monday. Officers said a detonator was found in the car, which was parked in front of a school about an hour before school opening time.

The car was plastered with Ku Klux Klan signs. Inside, police found a billy club and a machete —a large heavy knife of the variety used to chop through South American jungles.

Seven persons demonstrating around other Nashville schools today were arrested for disorderly conduct. Scores of students stayed away from classes on this second day of the school year here.

Building Shattered

The half - million - dollar Hattie Cotton school, where one Negro child began attending classes Monday, was shattered at 12:45 a.m. c.s.t. by a dynamite explosion that left only the exterior walls standing. No one was injured but nearby residents were knocked from their beds and windows were blown out over an area of several blocks.

Police blocked off streets around most of the freshly - integrated Nashville schools as bewildered youngsters started another day of classes.

The three white men arrested for questioning in connection with the explosion at Hattie Cotton were picked up near the Fehr school, scene of most of Monday's integration turmoil.

Segregationist John Kasper, who has twice been convicted for interfering with integration at Clinton, Tenn., last year, was active at Fehr school Monday and he spoke to a segregation rally here Monday night.

Rope Off Scene

Police officials, angry over the early morning school bombing, roped off integrated elementary schools and in some instances let nobody through the lines but the youngsters themselves. Even the parents accompanying them were turned back.

Four persons — some carrying signs and others riding by in cars—were arrested at the Glenn school, site of jeering and rock throwing Monday.

Some of the score of Negroes who began attending class with white pupils Monday showed up for the second day of classes. But attendance of both whites and Negroes fell off sharply.

Many white parents who pulled their children out of classes Monday in a boycott movement kept them home again today.

At Jones school, Principal Kathryn Millspaugh said it looks as if "hardly any" children were attending classes in the upper grades. In one first grade class where 23 students are registered, five had appeared by class opening time.

The blast followed angry demonstrations and rock throwing at six of the seven city schools

Panepinto Firing Before Council Again Tomorrow

The controversial case involving the City of Monessen and Philip Panepinto, who was fired as a policeman in July, will be given another airing at a meeting of City Council tomorrow.

Louis Manderino, the ousted patrolman's attorney, petitioned Council for the hearing stating he has three additional witnesses "he wants Council to hear," Mayor Hugo J. Parente said today.

In his petition, he told the mayor the three witnesses were "unavailable" when Panepinto was given a hearing before Council last July. At that hearing, Panepinto was fired on the recommendation of Parente, who charged Panepinto with failure to make hourly calls to police headquarters and "sleeping on duty."

At the July hearing, Panepinto made a partial denial of the first charge and a complete denial of the second charge.

Since then, Panepinto, through Manderino; appealed his ouster to Westmoreland County courts, stating he "has suffered an injustice" and asks that he be reinstated as a member of the force.

The courts had originally scheduled the appeal for Aug. 22 but granted the City a delay on the grounds that "several" of its witnesses would not be available on the Aug. 22 date.

Manderino yesterday asked the courts for another delay pending the outcome of tomorrow's hearing.

Register to Vote Here Tomorrow

Tomorrow will be the final vote registration day in Monessen before the November general election.

Registrars will sit at City Hall and at the office of the Park Manor apartments on Shady Ave. Monessen residents may register at either place from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Registrations are also accepted daily in Westmoreland County Court House in Greensburg from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. The last day to register for the November election is next Monday.

Authority in Meeting

A meeting of the Monessen Parking Authority will be held this evening at 8 p. m. at the office of Frank Ezerski, solicitor, it was announced today by Harold Cramer, chairman.

U. S. Files Injunction Petition Against Arkansas Governor Faubus

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP) — The federal government's patience ran out on Gov. Orval E. Faubus today and the Justice Department filed an injunction petition against him for his continued defiance of school integration orders.

The petition, which could eventually bring Faubus into open court, was requested Monday by U.S. District Judge Ronald A. Davies. The judge is expected to issue an order in the case soon.

The action, which must travel through legal court processes, came too late to give Negroes a chance to enroll in a controversial high school here this semester

The Justice Department asked for both temporary and permanent injunctions against Faubus Maj. Gen. Sherman T. Clinger, state adjutant general who is commander of the National Guard, and Lt. Col. Marion T. Johnson, unit commander of guard troops Faubus has used to prevent integration of Central High School.

Faubus, who claims his action was taken to preserve the peace and prevent violence, has not disclosed whether he will willingly accept a subpena from the government.

The Justice Department petition did not request a temporary restraining order against the governor, apparently dismissing the chance for an early court showdown between the government and the Arkansas state officials.

President Eisenhower, gravely worried over the trouble in Arkansas, chose an avenue of patient waiting in hopes the situation would clear up in Little Rock without the necessity for drastic federal measures.

Davies was expected to set a hearing date for sometime next week on the government's petition.

The fall term started last Tuesday and likely will be far along before the government's injunctive processes have moved through the courts.

With the filing of court action, tension at the schools involved went down quickly. It was almost like a normal day at North Little Rock High, after a brief period of tension at the school where six Negroes tried to enroll Monday, and at Little Rock's Central High Faubus said today (on NBC's "Today" television program) he has a "strong feeling" Davies was sent to Little Rock specifically to handle the school case.

But the governor said evidence he gave the FBI concerning his reasons for calling out the guard were sufficient to convince "any prudent, reasonable man" he was in the right.

Blast

where Negro children were admitted to the first grade on opening day. The incidents continued into the night.

Police Chief Douglass Hosse said the explosion "very definitely is connected with all this trouble over integration." One Negro pupil attended Hattie Cotton Monday, but Hosse said there was no trouble there during the day.

Police Guards Set

A police guard has been thrown up around the home of the Negro child, located about six blocks from the school; Hosse said. The child was not identified.

Hosse said evidence left little doubt that dynamite was used to blow up the building. Police Sgt. John Irwin, one of the investigators, found a wire from a detonating cap at the scene.

Officers said there may be a link between the blast and the recent theft of two cases of dynamite at Franklin, Tenn., 20 miles away.

Hosse said he planned to place police guards at al the integrated schools and double efforts to maintain peace.

Commenting on the explosion, assistant city school superintendent W.H. Oliver said, "We're up against thugs. The fight is against lawlessness. This is the result of a flame that has been fanned by some local people and some outside agitators."

"I hope this will at last awaken the law-abiding citizens of this community of the problem we're up against," he added.

Children Without School

"It sounded like the whole world had ended with one big loud blast," said Policeman Joe Casey, who was awakened by the blast and rushed to the scene from his home a short distance away.

About 390 white children and the Negro child were left without a school. Oliver said a decision would be made later as to what to do with the children.

The school is several miles from the Fehr school, scene of most of Monday's demonstrations. About 25 parents remained at the school until late Monday night, after police had broken up a demonstration.

events could happen which would change the picture completely.

Dulles said many people—apparently including the secretary himself—would agree with a Sept. 2 statement by Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru that the Middle East situation is dangerous and explosive. Dulles said he did not believe there is any reason to take issue with Nehru's assessment.

Dulles said in his opinion the situation will be worked out peacefully.

One basis for this judgment, he said, is that the United States is taking the situation seriously, is doing something about it, and therefore a peaceful solution is likely to be found.

If the United States did nothing in the face of present problems, he said, there would be great likelihood that a war could develop.

Officials said 12 F86 Sabrejet planes and two T33 trainer jets already have been flown into Saudi Arabia. The planes' arrived there several days ago, it was said, as part of rapid American moves to strengthen military forces of Syria's Arab neighbor nations.

Officials also reported that "in the last few days" a number of mortars, 106 mm. anti-tank rifles and other defensive weapons were airlifted to Iraq, another neighbor of Syria. Some observation and liaison-type planes also have arrived in Iraq. Officials said Iraq also is expected to receive some F86 jet fighter planes.

Turkey, another Syrian neighbor, is ticketed to get some speedier F100 Super-Sabrejet fighters later.

Jordan, still another Syrian neighbor, Monday received a special air shipment of recoilless rifles, jeeps, machine guns and ammunition from the United States.

State Schools Ruled Free of Segregation

By UNITED PRESS

Pennsylvania schools were ruled virtually free of segregation today as two of three remaining school districts acceded to desegregation.

Samuel E. McDonald, superintendent of Coatesville Schools, said segregation was a thing of the past at the James Adams Community School and the Terry Elementary School.

(McDonald is a former superintendent of Monessen public schools, having served here prior to Dr. Michael Duda.)

Until the schools opened last Thursday, the Adams school was all-Negro and the Terry school for white children only. However McDonald said from 20 to 25 Negro pupils went from Adams to the Benner elementary school which had accepted a few such pupils in the past. White children were enrolled at Adams school for the first time.

McDonald said all six Coatesville schools now were integrated. There are from 12 to 15 per cent Negroes in the system of 3,500 pupils.

M. E. Prettyman, supervising principal at Kennett Square, said that last year only the third grade of the consolidated school was segregated. He added that now there is no segregation in the township since that class has been integrated, ending a program started three years ago.

The two school district had been cited by the State Department of Public Instruction.

In Harrisburg, Dr. Carl Seifert, deputy superintendent of Public Instruction, said the other school district, Steelton, was cooperating as much as it can at present.

Seifert said no further integration can be accomplished in Steelton until a proposed new school building is completed. The building is expected to be completed for the next school term in September, 1958.

The Brownsville High School, constructed about 50 years ago, was recently condemned by the state Department of Public Instruction and earmarked for replacement.

But construction of a new building has been delayed by disagreement in jointure discussions between Brownsville and Redstone High School. The dispute centers on representation on the new school board.

negotiations to be conducted in proper manner and not through newspapers."

The union had scheduled the ad for today's issue of The Daily Independent but cancelled it early last night. Ortolona refused to say today why the ad was cancelled.

In its letter to blooming mill employes the company said,

". . . you have joined in an illegal walkout.

"The contract between Pittsburgh Steel Company and the United Steelworkers of America provides the legal means for employes to bring whatever is on their minds before the management of the company. . .

"Instead of using the protection of the contract, these 13 men and yourself have decided to take matters into your own hands. You, of course, must realize that by ignoring the contract, you are jeopardizing your seniority. . . pensions. . . SUB eligibility, to name just three. Such action as this is certainly not in your best interest and should be considered immediately before the effect becomes more serious to you and the other employes of the company."

'Spent Millions'

The letter went on to say that the company "has spent many millions of dollars in the past seven years to rebuild this company. . . 20-million dollars have been put into the blooming mill. That's roughly 60-thousand for every employe there. This morey—like all money industry spends to expand itself — creates jobs. It doesn't destroy jobs. . ."

The company still has not made known how long the strike would have to last before the entire plant employing nearly 5,000 has to shutdown.

There has been no picketing.

Pentagon not Impressed with Those 'Voices from Venus'

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Pentagon has been listening to some "voices from Venus."

But the men assigned to listening to voices from outer space said they weren't impressed.

A fellow named Wayne S. Aho tuned the Pentagon in last month on a little recorded Venutian chit-chat as translated by a Daytona, Fla., medium.

The medium was identified as Enid Brady. The Venutians were identified as Cymatrali, Huma Matra and two "flying saucer pilots" Mandall and Johon.

The Defense Department's reaction to 1½ hours' worth of listening was: "Unimpressive and unconvincing." One spokesman indicated that was understating the case.

But Aho, who asked the military to hear the recording, and his associates aren't giving up.

Aho, a former Air Force intelligence officer, argues that the time for ridicule over so-called flying saucers "is long since past."

Not Called Saucers

Incidentally, Enid said Venus calls her flying ships Ventlas, not saucers, and has perfected a "new globular one which will not scorch the earth when "it lands." A "moderate" speed for the new ships is 4,000 to 6,000 miles per hour "as you measure it."

In part of the recordings Aho played for the United Press Monday and heard earlier by the Defense Department, one of the "pilot" voices says after describing the new ships: "I wish that I could tell you of the trouble I had with the old ones. They went out of control when they neared earth."

The Venutians said they were speaking from a space station 40,000 miles above earth and claimed to be speaking over frequencies of a "higher rate of vibration than you are used to using."

Wish U.S. Well

The Venutians said their space station (No. 8) "beams health and wisdom" to President Eisenhower.

Moreover, they said (via Enid): Life on Venus — Its residents are six-foot tall or more, have fair hair and "finer features" than do we. They live in domed houses and do not eat the flesh or blood of any living thing. They visit other planets and find the constellation Orion "very anti - social." Mars is sort of the "Pittsburgh of the universe" supplying metal to Venus in exchange for water that Venus has.

Guided missiles — The Venutians observe U.S. tests of rockets and missiles and one sent up last month was "very nice to see. We could have taken it of course . . . We may take the next one. . ." They would like to help the U.S. and Britain build an advanced space satellite ahead of the "people you know as Russians." . . .

Enid relayed the understatement that the Venutians are "well aware of the problem" of proof of their existence.

They suggested that pilots who sight a "flying saucer" blink three times with a red or white light instead of calling ahead for military aircraft. The Venutians will answer back.

Coal Find in China

TOKYO (UP)—Communist China reported today its geologists have discovered more than 1½-billion tons of coal reserves "suitable for exploitation" in its three northwest provinces. "Work has been carried out to build six new coal pits in these provinces," the Ministry of Coal Industry said.

American Red Party Facing Deep Crisis

NEW YORK (UP) — Discontent and dissension have sharply reduced membership and caused a crisis in the American Communist Party, the editor of the Daily Worker said Monday.

John Gates, editor-in-chief of the Daily Worker, the Communist organ in the United States, said the party's U.S. membership declined by 45 per cent in the last year. National party officials confirmed the sharp drop, saying the party lost 7,000 members during the past year.

The present membership, a spokesman said, stands at 10,000, the lowest figure since 1931 when there were 8,300 members. The high point in U.S. membership was reached in 1945, at the end of World War II, when American Communists claimed 80,000 members.

Gates, in an article in today's Daily Worker, said it was difficult to analyze the "fundamental causes" of the membership decline. But he hinted dissension within the party along with membership discontent with party methods were largely responsible for the drop.

Gates' statement was, in effect, a reply to one published in the Daily Worker Monday by Joseph Clark, announcing his resignation as the newspaper's foreign editor and from party membership. Clark, a Communist for 28 years, openly admitted his disillusionment with the American Communist Party. He said the U.S. party persisted in following Soviet foreign policy and no longer was serving the cause of socialism effectively in the United States.

Gates indicated he agreed with many of the ideas expressed by Clark in his letter of resignation.

who has ignored court orders to integrate "forthwith," will come from U.S. District Judge Ronald N. Davies on a signal from the Justice Department in Washington.

The actual injunction was drawn up in Little Rock and was ready for service with arrival of a formal application this morning from Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell.

There were these other developments in the integration picture:

Alexandria, Va. — The NAACP requested federal Judge Albert V Bryan to enforce his integration ruling at schools in Arlington County, Va. where eight Negro children were turned away last week under the state's "placement" act.

Washington — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler withheld judgment on Faubus until "all the facts" are at hand.

Birmingham — An anti-integration patrol attacked a Negro minister attempting to enroll Negro children at a high school.

Dallas — A federal judge signed an order directing the Dallas independent school district to integrate at mid-term.

Harrisburg — Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania has declined an invitation to serve on a special bipartisan committee of governors to seek a solution of the federal-state conflict over school integration which developed at Little Rock.

A FAIR INVITATION — Margo Cole, 19, a college freshman, and two little pigs invite one and all to the Los Angeles County fair in Pomona, Calif., Sept. 13-19. Ribbons and $400,000 in prize money will be distributed by 200 judges.

Henry A. Roemer Steps Down at Sharon Steel

SHARON, Pa. (UP) — Henry A. Roemer, 72, who began his long steel career at 14 as a blast furnace operator, will step down from the top executive post of Sharon Steel Corp. to permit a younger management group to take over it was announced Monday.

James A. Roemer, 52, will succeed his father as chairman and Alfred Tredwell Jr. will assume the elder Roemer's position as president. Tredwell also has been named a director and an executive board member.

Henry Roemer will remain as director and chairman of the firm's executive committee. His son will remain as president of Mallory-Sharon Titanium Corp.

"The realignment of our executive team is part of our current expansion and modernization program," the elder Roemer said.

(Roemer was a former president of Pittsburgh Steel Co., having served from 1936 until 1942, when he was succeeded by J. H. Carter.)

In 1930 Roemer became director and president of Sharon Steel and during his tenure company sales increased from $10 million annually to nearly $200 million.

Urges Christian Unity Be Stressed in Church

OBERLIN, Ohio (UP)—Protestant and Orthodox leaders today called on "every local church and congregation" to take up the quest for Christian unity.

The appeal was made in a "message to the churches" presented for adoption at the final session of an eight-day unity conference attended by representatives of 47 U.S. and Canadian denominations.

It said the Oberlin conference, first of its kind ever held in North America, disclosed unexpected solidarity "among Christians of the varied inheritance" on many points of doctrine.

But the conference acknowledged there still are important differences that must be resolved before unity in spirit can be translated into any kind of organizational unity.

It said ministers and Christian laymen in every community must now join in exploring these differences and seeking common grounds on which "the oneness of God's people may be made manifest."

The churches unanimously adopted a resolution urging the National Council of Churches and the U.S. Conference for the World Council of Churches — sponsoring bodies for the Oberlin talks — to set up permanent machinery to guide local churches in this continuing study of issues and attitudes that bar the way to union.

The delegates also voted to distribute to local churches throughout North America lengthy reports prepared by working divisions of the conference which dealt with specific problems.

Division I, which had the job of defining agreements and disagreements on doctrine, reported its members were frankly "surprised" to find how many fundamental beliefs they held in common.

It said theologians from schools and denominations were united here in the "cardinal affirmation" that Jesus Christ is "the incarnate Word of God and the sacrifical Saviour of the world in whom God bore the sin of mankind and founded a new humanity."

Hungary Report In UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — Delegates from 81 nations gathered for a special session of the U.N. General Assembly today to consider a strongly - backed demand for new condemnation of Russia's brutal suppression of last year's revolt in Hungary.

The U.S. delegation felt certain the demand would get the necessary two-thirds majority—54 votes—for approval.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge prepared a 7,000-word speech in which to present the demand as a formal resolution.

The United States consulted 60 U.N. members before writing the draft resolution.

Up to Monday night 35 of them had joined the United States as co-sponsors and many others pledged supporting votes.

The resolution regretted the refusal of the Soviet Union and its Budapest puppet government to cooperate with the U.N. investigation of the revolt, citing specific actions by the Soviet and Hungarian authorities and condemning these acts "and the continued defiance of the resolutions of the General Assembly."

Special Report

The draft resolution continued in existence a special five - nation committee which issued a 150,000-word report last June comprising the most scathing indictment of the Soviet Union ever issued by a U.N. body.

The draft resolution noted the special committee found that the Hungarian revolt was "a spontaneous national uprising."

It said the report confirmed that:

—Russia, "in violation of the U.N. charter, has deprived Hungary of its liberty and political independence and the Hungarian people of the exercise of their fundamental rights."

—"The present Hungarian regime has been imposed on the Hungarian people by the armed intervention" of the Soviet Union.

—Russia "has violated its obligations under the Geneva Conventions of 1949" guaranteeing humane treatment of prisoners.

TO HEAD DOCTORS — Dr. John Wesley Shirer, Pittsburgh, will be installed as president of the 11,000-member Medical Society of the state at its 107th annual meeting in Pittsburgh Sept. 15 to 20, succeeding Dr. Elmer G. Shelley of North East.

Committee Heads Are Named for Chamber Banquet

Committee heads were appointed today for the annual banquet of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce which will be held this year on Oct. 15 at Twin Coaches.

Leonard C. Stern and Frank Ezerski, co-chairmen of the event, selected these committee heads:

Mayor Hugo Parente and Dr. J. Karl Beery, reception committee; Milton Rosenson, banquet and staging committee; Tom Herron, transportation committee; and Andrew Kritsky, ticket sales committee.

The sales committee will be divided into sub-committees with the following in charge: Willard Krasik and Stephen Sterbak, business division, Dan Myshin and Dr. Vincent Bolton, professional division; Carl R. Chaverin and Robert Eberley, industrial division; John Kotch, Jr., general division.

The banquet speaking program will feature Drew Pearson, the noted columnist.

Tickets are now available at the Chamber office or may be obtained from any member of the ticket committee.

Special Service Tomorrow at Salvation Army

Lt. Col. Hal Beckett of the Salvation Army will be conducting services at the local citadel, 308 Schoonmaker Ave., tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock.

He has served with the Salvation Army for many years, and went with the Salvation Army Pioneers to China. He also went with relief money to Japan during the 1923 earthquake, and assisted in aiding survivors of the Empress of Ireland disaster in Canada.

He was editor of the Chinese War Cry and the same publication in South Africa. Beckett directed Salvation Army operations in Iceland and the Faroe Isles and has visited Rhodesia and Kenya as well as serving extensively in United States and Canada.

He will be accompanied here by the Divisional secretary of Western Pennsylvania. The public may attend.

Army Sergeant Faces Trial For Mistreatment

FORT CARSON, Colo. (UP)—A sergeant accused of inflicting irregular forms of punishment on Army recruits was to face court martial today.

Sgt. Jack Riley, 27, of Brunswick, Ga., is the sixth of eight enlisted men from Company I, 39th Infantry Regiment, to face charges of maltreatment of basic trainees.

Riley was charged with withholding mail from recruits, calling a night formation while drunk and punishing his men for not buying special company stationery.

Sgt. Harkules Kleles, 23, of Dover, Del.; and Sgt. Edwin Knutson, 28, of Altoona, Pa., will be tried on similar charges.

Previously, four men were sentenced to five or six months imprisonment and fined $40 to $65 per month. One man was found innocent.

County Sunday School Convention Tomorrow

The 65th annual County-wide Sunday School convention will hold its first of a two-day meeting tomorrow in the United Brethren Church in Ligonier with registrations starting at 9:30.

R. Harold Boyd, president of the County Council of Christian Education, said this year's two day sessions will be filled with talent for instructions, addresses, special music and conferences.

On the speakers program for Wednesday will be Dr. Fred M. Blick, minister of the First United Presbyterian church, Irwin, speaking on "Witness to Win, Teach to Enrich"; the Rev. Chauncey J. Varner, state director of youth work on "The Sunday School Hour, Used or Misused"; Helen L. Piette, child evangelism fellowship director for the Pittsburgh area, who has the children's conference.

Others who will take part in the panel discussion are J. W. Clawson, assistant superintendent of County schools; Constance Chambers, director of Christian education for the First Evangelical United Brethren Church, Scottdale; James C. Stormont, science teacher in the Ligonier High School. Charles E. Marsh, Greensburg, will be the chairman and the subject discussed "Problems of the Church School". The fellowship banquet takes place at 5:30 p. m.

The evening session begins at 7:30 and the speaker will be Dr. Robert C. Howe, minister of the First Methodist Church in Pittsburgh. Special music will be presented by the Murrysville Men's Sextette of the Methodist Church. The organist for the two days will be Mrs. Ida Weimer of Ligonier with A. G. Carlson of Irwin as the song leader. The morning session will begin at 10:15, afternoon at 1:30 and evening meeting at 7:30.

Invited are representatives from all departments of the Sunday School, along with their superintendents and ministers. Each session's program will follow through at specified times. Noon luncheon will be served in the host church, cafeteria style.

County Easter Seal Society in Meeting; Officers Are Named

Election of officers and directors of the Westmoreland County Society for Crippled Children and Adults featured the annual meeting of the organization held last night at Jacktown Hotel near Irwin.

New officers named to serve for the coming year include Richard K. Thomas, Greensburg, president; B. T. Hopkins, New Kensington, and Miss Edna McFarland, Greensburg, vice presidents; Mrs. Alta Currie, Greensburg, secretary.

Two Monessen men, Stephen G. Mahovlich and William H. Pore, were re-elected directors during the proceedings. Dallas Winchell, of Fellsburg, was among directors elected for an initial term of three years.

Other district persons serving as directors of the Society are Mrs. Frank Ezerski, Jr. of Monessen, and Mrs. Ruth Hoover Conrad, Belle Vernon R. D. The Society accepted the resignation of Mrs. Harold Meybin of Monessen as a director.

The Society is the agency which conducts the annual Easter Seal sale and provides therapy and other services to the handicapped throughout Westmoreland County.

The annual report published at the meeting last night showed receipts of $38,745 during the past year. Services included 193 active cases in the speech and physical therapy departments; some 2,290 visitations at the full time Greensburg clinic maintained by the Society; braces, appliances and special equipment loaned or given handicapped persons; and an enrollment of 23 Westmoreland County children at summer camps for the crippled.

In addition to the business session, the meeting last night featured a talk by Miss Dorothy Weber, medical social worker for the D. T. Watson Home for Crippled Children in Pittsburgh. Miss Weber recently completed a tour of European treatment centers and told of some of the rehabilitation methods both at the Watson home and in clinics abroad.

Farm Worker Is Held in Beating Near Waynesburg

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UP)—Dennis Hopkins, 28, a husky farm worker, was held today for drunken attacks on an 80-year-old Franklin Twp. widow, Mrs. Gertrude R. Kent, and her sister, Florence Reese, a member of the West Virginia University faculty.

Hopkins forced his way into the women's home at Reese's Mills, two miles west of here, Saturday night. He twice knocked Mrs. Kent to the floor and also struck Miss Reese.

Mrs. Kent succeeded in telephoning her son, Paul, who lives a quarter mile away, and Hopkins fled when he saw the lights of his approaching car. Mrs. Kent recognized Hopkins and he was arrested later at his home.

In a statement to police Hopkins said he had been drinking and did not remember going to the women's home. He was charged with forcible entry and assault and battery. Following a hearing before Justice of the Peace John Daily, he was ordered held for the December grand jury.

Donahue to Cut Down Expenses If He's Elected

Wayne R. Donahue, Republican nominee for district attorney in Westmoreland County, today promised "economical as well as efficient operation" of the office if elected at the Nov. 5 general election.

"I will make a thorough study of the operation," Donahue said. "I will consult with the Bar Association to effect a smooth operation regarding matters that come through the district attorney's office."

Donahue pointed out that the DA's office in the county operated with four assistants until World War II when two more were added to bring the staff to the legal limit of six.

The Republican nominee also promised to personally try cases in court if elected.

Demoted Police Chief Reinstated In Masontown

Pete Smargie, Masontown's suspended and demoted police chief, was reinstated last night after borough council received a petition signed by 1,500 residents asking for such action.

Smargie was returned to the chief's job when Nick Petrovich, who assumed the position when Smargie was suspended July 8, agreed to step down.

Petrovich will now serve as assistant chief.

Smargie, a former state policeman, was fired by council on charges of "neglect and violation of duty and conduct unbecoming an officer." Reportedly his suspension grew out of an alleged scuffle with a borough employe, an arrest during a traffic dispute and his handling of a carnival which supposedly featured a burlesque show.

Smargie was reinstated without back pay.

New Stainless Steel Product Developed

NEW YORK (UP)—Armco Steel Corp. today took the wraps off a new high-strength stainless steel which it says will enable aircraft and missiles to withstand the terrific heat generated by speeds of up to four times the speed of sound.

Armco President R. L. Gray said the new steel—known technically as ph15-7mo—has brought into view many "new and improved weapons . . . for the nation's defense arsenal."

Its development, he explained at a press luncheon here, was brought about as a result of the furnace-like heat generated by air rushing over the surfaces of a plane or missile traveling at high speeds.

Before World War II aircraft designers were devising ways of knocking ice off a plane's wings. Today, they are searching for ways of keeping the wings of future aircraft from folding up because of heat, Gray noted.

He said craft utilizing ph15-7-mo will be able to fly in air friction heat of 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit hitting speeds of 2720 miles per hour or four times the speed of sound.

Aluminum, the conventional aircraft material, is said to be useless at speeds in excess of 1360 mph.

He noted the cost of the new metal is "less than one-tenth that of high-strength titanium alloys."

Gray, whose Middletown, Ohio, based company ranks as the nation's seventh largest steel producer, said Armco will spend $70 million for improvement and expansion of its Butler, Pa., works to speed production of the new steel and other highly specialized steels.

The new metal represents an advancement over stainless steel sister materials that have been used in the newest jets and missiles.

They all are part of a new category called precipitation hardening metals—named after the hardening that occurs in the steel during simple heat treatment.

Gray told the press gathering that within the last five years aircraft and missiles have become the second largest consumers of stainless steel. Last year he noted about $75 million worth of stainless steel went into the two fields. He predicted within the next five years aircraft and missile producers will take some $200 million worth annually.

Appeals Speeding Charge; Wins Before Magistrate

HIGHSTOWN, N.J. (UP) — A two - hour hearing in Municipal Court Monday night ended in vindication for Winifred Ann Zebley, 21, of Philadelphia.

Miss Zebley had received a summons for speeding on Rt. 33 on Labor Day. Specifically, the stenotypist had been charged with driving 36 m.p.h. in a 35 m.p.h. zone.

Magistrate Samuel Bard dismissed the case after ruling the prosecution had failed to "establish accuracy." Police Chief Ernest Davidson conceded the speed timer had not been checked in 2½ years.

Miss Zebley told newsmen the summons was "ridiculous."

The next case before the magistrate concerned a man appealing a charge of driving 37 m.p.h. in a 35 m.p.h. zone.

We Shouldn't Sell The South Short

THOSE OF US who are distressed by and indignant at the actions of Governor Faubus of Arkansas in the incident at Little Rock should not let ourselves lose sight of the fact that the Governor's conduct is not approved by all responsible elements in the South.

Many of the most respected newspapers in the South, including one in Little Rock itself, have condemned Governor Faubus' tactics. So have several public officials, the most notable of whom is Mayor Mann of Little Rock. Many ordinary citizens, interviewed on the streets of Little Rock, are telling reporters of their anti-Faubus views and are being courageous enough to allow their names to be published.

We can conclude from this that Governor Faubus is not speaking for all the people of the South. And that fact is worth remembering as we consider, not only this particular incident, but the whole scope of the school segregation controversy.

* * *

WHAT has irked many southerners, including Mayor Mann, is the implication in Governor Faubus' use of the National Guard at Central High School that violence would have occurred had Negro children been admitted to the school in accordance with the federal court order.

Not so, said Mayor Mann.

"I am sure," he said, "a great majority of the people of Little Rock share my deep resentment at the manner in which the governor has chosen to use this city as a pawn in what clearly is a political design of his own. If any racial trouble does develop the blame rests squarely on the doorstep of the governor's mansion."

The Arkansas Gazette, published in Little Rock, makes the point that what Governor Faubus is doing cancels out much of the effort which the state has been making in the field of industrial development. The people are trying to represent their state as a progressive, modern community; Governor Faubus pictures it as a backwoods, race-hating, law-defying locality.

Newspapers in other states, some of which have not yet begun to desegregate their schools, are saying that Governor Faubus' methods are wrong and are expressing the hope that they do not become a pattern for the rest of the South.

* * *

WE OUGHT NOT to sell the South short. When we listen to the unreconstructed, defiant reactionism of a typical Southern politician, we are not necessarily listening to the true voice of the South.

Many people who have followed carefully the development of public opinion in the South since the Supreme Court decision in 1954 have been convinced of a rising tide of good sense and moderation on the school segregation issue in particular and racial questions in general. Undoubtedly this sentiment was largely responsible for the passage of the right-to-vote law by the recent Congress with the actual support of several important Southern leaders.

In this sentiment lies our best hope for eventual satisfactory solution of the whole controversy. If the politicians of the "Senator Klaghorn" variety, waving their little Confederate flags and mouthing the old Civil War slogans can be prevented from abusing their power to fan irresponsible emotions, there may be enough adult good sense in the South to bring it to accept the U. S. Constitution as the law of the land and to make the adjustments in local customs required by such acceptance.

Always at Work

PRESIDENT Eisenhower's quick return to Washington, just two days after his long-delayed arrival at his vacation site at Newport, R. I., was an abrupt reminder that the President of the United States never gets away from his job.

It is the kind of job which requires unceasing alertness. Unlike most of us who make our livings in more ordinary pursuits, the President literally can never "goof off" while his work piles up or somebody else does it for him.

This is a fact which some of the critics of Mr. Eisenhower's golf-playing and rather frequent trips away from Washington have overlooked.

They sometimes forget, too, that the President is the kind of restless, active individual who is not at his best when he "stays put" for long periods. Some men can sit at a desk through 16-hour days for months at a time and remain attentive and alert. Some can't; and Mr. Eisenhower is one of the kind who can't. So it would be unwise of him to subject himself unnecessarily to a regimen which he feels would take the edge from his mental alertness, even though it might avoid snide criticism.

We think most Americans hope the President and Mrs. Eisenhower get a little peace at Newport. His vacation has been planned so that he can be in Washington in less than two hours when he is needed, and there is reassurance in that. Let's hope he won't be disturbed too often, for we're sure that the country as well as he himself will benefit from any respite he gets.

Merry-Go-Round—

'Jupiter' May Be Given to Air Force

(Editor's Note: While Drew Pearson is touring the Mediterranean, his column is written by his junior partner.)

JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department may soon settle the bitter Army-Air Force missile feud by accepting the Army-developed Jupiter but turning it over to the Air Force to operate. This solution has been urged by the Army Ballistic Missile Agency which built the 1,500-mile Jupiter.

A formal announcement is expected by October from the special evaluation board which has been comparing the rival intermediate ballistic missiles.

Biggest hitch is what to do with the Air Force's Thor which Douglas Aircraft Company has already tooled up to produce. Secretary of Defense Wilson is worried how he'll explain to Congress why he authorized Douglas to install the expensive machinery, then changed his mind about producing the Thor.

Wilson would still like to take the best features from both missiles and combine them into one, over-all missile. Experts have warned, however, this would delay the program at least a year.

Thor Has Fins

Both the Jupiter and Thor already use the same power plant, developed by the Air Force. The hulls are similar in design, except that the Thor has fins and the Jupiter does not. In guidance, the Jupiter is considered superior. It would be impossible to plug the Jupiter's guidance system into the Thor's controls, missilemen say, without lengthy new tests.

At least six Jupiters have been fired successfully, whereas all the Thor's tests have failed. The latest experimental Thor reached an altitude of 96,000 feet, then the motor broke loose.

Chrysler claims it can start mass-producing the Jupiter in four months. With Soviet missiles threatening on the other side of the Arctic, the evaluation board is in a hurry to settle the Jupiter-Thor controversy.

Washington Whispers

Fellow officers openly sympathized with Col. John Nickerson who was court-martialed for giving away secrets in a memo criticizing Secretary of Defense Wilson's missile policies. Yet only three officers showed up for a going-away party that attorney Robert Bell threw for Nickerson when he was banished to the Panama Canal Zone. Reason: Maj. Gen. Medaris, Nickerson's commanding officer, ordered officers not to attend". . .Rep. Jack Shelley (D., Calif.), the teamster Congressman, will open his fight in Seattle today for the Teamster's presidency. If Shelley can line up the western conference behind him, he'll challenge strongman Jimmy Hoffa at the Teamsters' convention in Miami later this month. . .Frank Brewster, the Teamsters' western chief, has no love for Hoffa, may end up backing Shelley.

Shefferman's Clients

A squad of Senate sleuths, led by rackets counsel Bob Kennedy, has just come back from an investigative foray into Michigan with new questions to ask Teamsters' strongman Jimmy Hoffa.

For one thing, they intend to pin him down on his dealings with Nathan Shefferman, labor consultant extraordinary, who has had amazing success keeping his clients out of trouble with the Teamsters.

Of the 300 clients Shefferman testified he had, Bob Kennedy's boys have located 121 in Michigan. A majority have been able to get away with using nonunion drivers right in Hoffa's home state.

From Kennedy's confidential files, here are the biggest Shefferman clients: Awrey Bakeries, Bond Clothing, Boston Shoe Stores, Capper and Capper, Cross Company, Crawler Milner, Detroit Bolt and Nut, Good Housekeeping Shops, Gordon Baking, Grinnell Brothers, Hotpoint Appliance, J. L. Hudson, Hughes and Hatcher, Ernest Kern, King Brooks, Kline's Women's Apparell, S. S. Kresge, Merchants Credit Bureau, Michigan Hospital Service.

Also Ned's Auto Supply, Peoples Outfitting, T. B. Ray, Robinson Furniture, Russek's, Fred Sanders, Sears Roebuck, Service Parking Grounds, Harry Suffrin, United Shirt Distribution, Ver Hoven Chevrolet, and Winkleman Brothers Apparel. All these firms are located in Detroit where Hoffa has his headquarters.

Tip to Kennedy: Hoffa is anxious to keep your investigators from questioning his chauffeur and bodyguard, Robert Baker. Before Hoffa's last appearance, he hustled Baker out of town. The husky chauffeur spent several days at Mercy Hospital in Des Moines, supposedly "to lose weight."

Grim Events in Arkansas

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Arkansas' Gov. Orval Faubus has taken on himself a fearful, terrible responsibility.

Whatever the outcome — whether events become more ominous or more hopeful — it is vital, it seems to me, to fix faithfully in our minds what has been done by whom under what circumstances, and to see the awful implications.

Mr. Drummond

The truth is that this September, 1957, may prove to be one of the fateful months in the life of the nation, the events of which could fill chapters in future histories. In the words of a justly famous television show, the only difference is that "You Are There."

That is the momentous potential of the Arkansas Incident.

If we are to appraise what will be forthcoming, whether it be good or bad, it is necessary to see precisely what Gov. Faubus has done.

What he has done is to direct the use of force — troops from the National Guard — to prevent the local school board of Little Rock from carrying out a voluntarily initiated, court-approved plan to allow 15 Negro students to attend the Little Rock Central High School.

At the Governor's direction the Arkansas troops interfered with the functioning of the Federal Court and stood in the way of the execution of its authority.

Two Consequences

By using force to this end — to the end of frustrating an order of the Federal District Court — Gov. Faubus has embarked upon a course which, unless he recedes, has at the end of its perilous road one of two ultimate consequences:

1 — Either the successful defiance by force of the Judiciary of the nation by a state Governor — which is intolerable.

2 — Or the use of force by the President of the United States to compel obedience to the law and to the Federal Courts by a state Governor — which nobody wants, including the President of the United States.

It is momentous because the Governor directed the use of force preventing an order of the Federal Court from being carried out.

This is why it is factual to say that Gov. Faubus touched off a train of events which, unless reversed, has as its end potential either the successful state defiance of Federal law by force or by the successful enforcement of Federal law through force if necessary.

This is why it is factual to say that Gov. Faubus has taken on himself a fearful, terrible responsibility. Either the Governor wanted it that way, or he didn't know what he was doing.

There are other facts needed to put the Arkansas Incident in perspective.

Essential Elements

One of the essential elements of the Supreme Court decision requiring integration of the public schools was its gradualism. It stipulated that it could be achieved over a period of years and it directed the District Courts to take into account varying local problems and to leave all possible initiative and judgment to local authorities.

This is exactly what Gov. Faubus has refused to do. In Little Rock it was the local school board, taking account of local problems, which took the local initiative to authorize a 10-year plan of graduation for integration. The Federal Court did not initiate the plan nor order it. All the Federal Court did was to approve the plan and dissolve a finding of a state court through which some sought to block the local school board's action.

Did Gov. Faubus have the authority to countermand the action of the Little Rock School Board to proceed at its own initiative with gradual integration?

He asserted no such authority. Instead he sent troops, not requested by the Mayor of Little Rock, to prevent the school board from exercising its local autonomy and to prevent the District Court from enabling it to obey the law in its own chosen time and way.

Upper Ranks of GOP Hold Defeatist Attitude

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—Politicians who unhappily assert the utter demoralization of the Republican Party organization are citing new evidence of what they believe to be wrong.

All of this, of course, is cited more in sorrow than in anger. This latest complaint is similar to but not identical with those which have preceded it through much of the Eisenhower administration. It is in general, that the top men in the administration cannot or will not play politics for keeps.

Mr. Wilson

For example: The Republican Party was repudiated a fortnight ago by Wisconsin voters who elected William Proxmire, a Democrat to the late Republican Joseph R. McCarthy's Senate seat. Wisconsin is normally and traditionally a Republican state. Proxmire defeated Walter J. Kohler, a popular and theretofore successful Republican candidate in Wisconsin. The election was a severe blow to Republican prestige and prospects.

Proxmire Steps In

The new Democratic senator-elect hurried to Washington, took his seat just before adjournment and stayed on to adjust to his new environment. Good thing he did, too. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare telephoned Democrat Proxmire a couple of days ago to report that it had allotted a substantial sum to a hospital in Port Washington, Wis.

This good news, elsewhere unknown, was transmitted by Proxmire to his Wisconsin constituents and if they decided that their new senator was getting results mighty fast, what better evidence could they desire than the government's check for more than $1,700,000 shortly to be received?

Port Washington is in Wisconsin's 6th Congressional District represented by a Republican, William K. Van Pelt, now in his fourth term. The department did not advise Van Pelt, the United Press was informed, of its allocation to his district of funds to build a hospital addition. Neither did the department call Wisconsin's Republican Sen. Alexander Wiley. It was a good deal all around for freshman Sen. Proxmire.

It was bad for the Republican party in Wisconsin, however. This incident is not precisely typical nor is it suggested that secretary Marion B. Folsom of the health, education and welfare department is sabotaging his party. Folsom probably knows nothing of the incident unless Van Pelt or Wiley protested.

Someone Goofed

At best, however, someone goofed. At worst, someone in the department is out of step with the administration — sufficiently out of step to offer aid and comfort to the political enemy. This latter is entirely possible and, perhaps, probable.

The incident is an example of what the political pros mean when they complain that the top people in the Eisenhower administration do not or will not play politics. They mean the legitimate, petty kind of politics which pays off at the polls.

It is not often that a government department would tip off a Democratic member of Congress that a chunk of federal money was about to fall into the lap of deserving constituents. More of a problem is the fact that the Republican departmental heads fail to make sure that Republican congressmen will be tipped off in time to let the voters back home hear any available good news from their good Republican friend in Washington.

There is a defeatist attitude in the upper Republican ranks. It seems to be well founded.

The Lighter Side—

Makes Business of 'Smelling Out' Places

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) — Alfred Neuwald is a happy man this day—he feels he is putting America on the scent of something good. Just last week, he had New York subways smelling vaguely of strawberries.

"It is not only happy I feel—but somehow vindicated," he said in a voice heavy with the accents of his native Hungary. "Some of my friends five years ago were telling me I am just plain nuts and those who wanted to be polite, they called me a dreamer."

Neuwald is the man who has perfected a jelly-like compound that acts like printer's ink, except that it will print any one of more than 100 odors — in color — right into a newspaper.

A Rose By. . .

"You know that column you wrote last month about new discoveries in the use of fragrance in printing?" He asked excitedly in a phone call to my desk. "Well, that was me. I've been working on it five years and my company is right here in New York, The Fragrance Process Co., and did you smell those strawberries in the advertisement in the New York Post Monday? That's me."

"I did indeed," I said. "How could I miss smelling them? My wife tells me the whole subway car she was on Monday smelled like strawberries when people opened their newspapers. But, honestly, I thought the advertisement smelled more like strawberry candy than fresh strawberries."

"We have 16 different strawberry smells," said Neuwald. "What you are smelling is whichever the advertiser is picking. But since that ad ran, I have been interviewed by the New Yorker magazine, the Time magazine, the London Daily Express, and a Sydney, Australia, newspaper. And the Voice of America broadcast the strawberry - scent news to France."

Oranges In Charleston

Neuwald said the first use of his fragrant product in a newspaper was last April, when a New York state weekly ran a pine smell in a green colored ad. Then a Charleston, W. Va., daily had a fresh orange scent in a grocery ad of an orange sale. After that, papers in Boston and Cincinnati had grape odor coming from purple grapes in a beverage ad.

Better brace yourself for a barrage of whiffs. Neuwald says one firm plans a coast-to-coast ad campaign in pine aroma for Christmas time. And coming up also are chocolate and coffee smells. Also, he says he has available a new-car smell.

"New-car smell? What's that?" I asked.

"Just like a new car is smelling," he said. "Upholstery, banana-oil, and so forth — we've already used it in direct - mail advertising. And we've got fresh-cut grass, fragrance of tobacco and leather, hot cinnamon roll, a good, juicy, old-fashioned pickle, juniper for gin, hospital odor. . ."

"Hospital odor? Who would want that?"

Ike May Try Maine Fishing

By MERRIMAN SMITH

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP)—Backstairs at the summer White House:

Despite all the strong negative talk by Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, President Eisenhower might break his vacation here and motor up to Maine for a late-season fling at hungry trout.

A presidential trip to Maine is not on the planning books of the Secret Service agents, but they are aware of the possibility.

The President last fished the heavily stocked Parmachene Lake in Maine in June, 1955.

His chief assistant, Sherman Adams, the former governor of New Hampshire, is one of the prime movers in attempting to get the President to upper New England this summer.

When an outsider tries to reach the President here in Newport, the telephone company switches the caller to a special number—Viking 7-2300. This number is manned on a relatively private switchboard by sergeants of the Army Signal Corps.

The Signal Corps men have had, since the President arrived here last week, quite a number of rather irrational calls — among them, a persistent woman who wants the President to have dinner at her seashore cottage.

When a President moves into a town, all sorts of rumors start flying. One of the current flaps had to do with agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation cleaning out the YMCA here because the building overlooked the site of the President's civic reception.

On the face of it, the story was not true. Photographs printed in newspapers of this area showed a number of people hanging out of the YMCA windows. And besides, the muscular young men who protect the President are not FBI men, but agents of the U. S. Secret Service, a branch of the Treasury Department.

Hospital Auxiliary Marks Anniversary

The Charleroi-Monessen Hospital Auxiliary opened activities of the fall season with a meeting yesterday afternoon in the hospital conference room. Mrs. T. C. Montgomery presided.

This is the 10th anniversary year for the auxiliary and there will be special observances planned during the year's program.

Mrs. Russell Stone, gift shop chairman, announced that during the summer a new air conditioner, new electric adding machine, high chair, hot sandwich machine and new drapes have been purchased for the gift shop. Cousin's Floral Shop, Monessen, is supplying the potted plants sold at the shop. She also gave the financial statement for the gift shop for the past 10 years. The total profit in the period amounted to $30,517.43.

Plan Tag Day

Mrs. Alex Irvine, ways and means chairman, announced that tag day will be held in Charleroi and Belle Vernon on Saturday, Sept. 28.

Mrs. Ralph Evans, social chairman, announced that a grab bag luncheon and card party will be held Tuesday, Sept 24, in the Donora Elks Club. It will replace the Sept. 23 meeting. Members will be contacted by the telephone committee.

Mrs. Melvin Tubin and Mrs. Joseph Helzlsouer were appointed to purchase a special gift. Mrs. Fred Campana of Monessen was reported a surgical patient in Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. John LaCare confined to her home with a badly injured foot.

The resignation of Mrs. William C. Clipman, Jr. as incoming president, was announced.

A social time was observed and a large anniversary cake centered the table. Mrs. Montgomery and Mrs. Henry Rossomme cut the cake. Also on the lunch committee were Mrs. Henry Bawin and Mrs. Melvin Tubin.

District Singer Will Interpret Operatic Roles

Jean Smith Jenkins, "The Singing Actress", will act and sing two of the leading roles from, "Hansel and Gretel", in her concert at Donora High School on Sept. 17.

She will be seen, first as the little boy, Hansel, who is lost in the forest — frightened and hungry.

The Ginger-bread-house, which plays an important part in this delightful opera will be on the stage in all its tempting glory.

The whole world knows Grimmes famous fairy tale — Hansel and Gretel — and the composer. Humperdinck made such a success from his opera which was built around the well known story that he was immediately acclaimed as an outstanding composer.

In a matter of seconds, the vocalist changes from a frightened little boy to the weird and evil being who has the power to entice hungry and bewildered children through the tempting, beautiful gingerbread house.

Those who see and hear this concert will understand why Jean Smith Jenkins has earned the right to be named as one of Donora's, "Champions".

C. W. C. C. Meets Here for First Session of Season

The first meeting of the Catholic Women's College Club of the Monongahela Valley was held last night in the Slovak Home.

Dinner was served preceding the business session and program. The president, Mrs. Michael Stima, presided and introduced the chaplain, the Rev. Andrew Parvensky, pastor of St. Mary Byzantine Rite Church of Monessen. She also announced that Frank M. Mica and George Metasky, seminarians, assisted in preparing the program.

Guest speaker was William Storey, instructor of Medical History at Duquesne University. He is a native of Canada, and an authority on church history. He gave a talk on "Historical Development of the Rites of the Church." The talk covered the period from the first Pentecost until the present as developed in Antioch, Alexandria, Rome and Constantinople. He defined the difference between the eastern and western rites.

At the close of the talk, the officers for the coming year were introduced. They are Mrs. Stima, president; Mrs. Joseph M. Dudas Jr., vice-president; Nada J. Luti, secretary; Norma DeRosa, treasurer; Mrs. Raymond Jozwiak, program consultant.

Review Program

Mrs. Stima reviewed the program for the year which is dedicated to "Our Lady of Fatima". The club members will say a continuous daily 15 decade rosary for the conversion of Russia, and the procedure was explained by Miss Luti.

The second requirement for world peace, "Sacrifice" was demonstrated by Mrs. Jozwiak, and the club will select a project for this theme.

Mrs. Dudas explained the literary table to be set up at the next meeting, and asked cooperation in circulating the Catholic literature.

The other meetings listed for the club were outlined. There will be a panel discussion on the remaining rites of the eastern and western liturgy; customs in different rites in observing the birth of Christ; symbolism used in various rites; life of the seminarians; unity in the church — relationship of the Orthodox and Catholic; respect shown to church hierarchy; guest night; scholarship award and communion breakfast.

Name Committee

A committee was appointed to plan for revision of the by-laws.

There was a short business session. Two thank you notes were read, and the club received two invitations. Norma DeRosa gave the financial statement.

A membership drive was announced in honor of the 18th anniversary of the club.

An altar centered with a statue of Our Lady of Fatima surrounded by lattice work bordered by ferns and philodendron provided the background for the program. Each member received a name card and a white and blue pompon designating the club colors, white and blue.

The officers were hostesses for the evening.

Mrs. Leona Jodon Is Hostess to W.N.O. Members

Mrs. Leona Jodon entertained members of the W. N. O. Club at her home on Reeves Ave., last evening.

Cards were played and prizes were won by Lillian Fairley and Leona Jodon. The "white elephant" prize was won by Ruth Tomer.

The hostess served refreshments after play. Mary Jane Kroll was named next hostess.

Mrs. Edward Bucko
(Donna Guibourdanchie)

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bucko Will Reside in Pittsburgh

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eugene Bucko will make their future home in Pittsburgh following their wedding trip.

Mrs. Bucko before her marriage was Donna Rose Guibourdanche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Guibourdanche, Reed Ave. Mr. Bucko was a resident of Homestead.

Their wedding was solemnized in St. Leonard Roman Catholic Church on Saturday morning, Aug 24, at 10 a. m. The Rev. James L. Conway officiated.

Immediately following the nuptial rites there was a wedding breakfast served in St. Leonard Parish Hall. Later there was a wedding dinner at Sweeney's and a reception at the New Italian Hall before the couple left for a Canadian trip.

Given by Father

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white lace and net over satin. The fitted bodice was styled with a Queen Anne collar and long pointed sleeves. The full skirt was made in five tiers. Her sweetheart headpiece was accented with a single drop pearl and held her veil of illusion. She carried a white orchid atop a white Prayer Book.

Shirley Bugas, niece of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor. She was attired in a gown of coral net over satin. The full skirt was accented with floral appliques. She wore a matching picture hat and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Similiarly styled ensembles in mint green were worn by the four bridesmaids. Betty Ann Relich, Nida Jean Sepesky, both of Monessen, Patty Bucko, niece of the bridegroom and Sally Bragg, friend of the bride. Their bouquets were also roses.

Best Man

Steve Getsy served as best man for the bridegroom, and ushers were Bernard Bucko, nephew of the bridegroom, Raymond Burk, Michael Dinak and Robert Adams, all of Homestead.

The mother of the bride wore a pale green dress with dark green trim, white accessories and a rosebud corsage. Mrs. Betty Bugas, sister of the bridegroom, with whom he made his home, wore a blue lace dress with blue and white accessories. Her corsage was pink roses.

The bride was graduated in 1954 from Monessen High School and later from St. Francis Hospital School of Nursing, Pittsburgh. She will be on the hospital nursing staff. Mr. Bucko, a graduate of Homestead High School, is employed at U. S. Steel, Homestead.

LOCALS

The Mon Valley Section of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children will hold the regular meeting at the Charleroi Legion Home, Sept. 12, at 7:30 p.m. The films "Tuesday's Child" and "None Less Precious" will be shown by Sam Swart, president of the Washington County chapter. Parents and friends of retarded children are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sahlsten of Warren, Ohio, have returned home after visiting the former's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Cavalli of Chestnut St. Other guests at the Cavalli home were Mr. and Mrs. Domenick Bucci of Vandergrift, cousins of Mr. Cavalli.

Michael Hussar, 350 Chestnut St., has returned home after a week visit with Mr. annd Mrs. Peter Roman and family of Hazelton. Mr. Roman was a former local resident having served as cantor of St. Mary Greek Catholic Church.

The Confraternity of Christian Mothers of Most Holy Name of Jesus Church will meet tomorrow evening in the church hall on Reed Ave. There will be an important business session and social hour.

Girl Scouts of Troop 41 will meet at the Civic Center on Tuesday, Sept. 7, at a new time from 7 until 8 o'clock.

Mrs. John Jankura, McKee Ave., is a patient in West Penn Hospital, Pittsburgh. Her room number is 1 A room 3.

Two Observances At Cavalli Home

A silver wedding anniversary observance and a post wedding reception honored Mr. and Mrs. Victor Cavalli of 513 Chestnut St. and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent V. Cavalli, over the week end.

The Victor Cavallis observed the 25th anniversary of their marriage on Saturday, and started the day by renewing their marriage vows at 7 a. m. at St. Leonard Roman Catholic Church.

The renewal of vows took place before a group of friends and relatives including Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cavalli and another son of the honored couple, John R. Cavalli, who is a student at St. Charles Seminary, Carthagena, Ohio. He is studying for the priesthood and served at the altar during the rites. The Rev. J. L. Conway officiated.

Anniversary Breakfast

Immediately after the church service the couple was entertained at a surprise breakfast by Mayor and Mrs. Hugo Parenti at Johnson's restaurant. The guest list included family and close friends.

On Sunday afternoon and evening, the elder Cavallis shared honors with Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cavalli, who were wed in August in Winnetka, Ill. Mrs. Cavalli is the former Harriet Weymouth of Winnetka. After their wedding trip they came to Monessen to visit for several days.

Both couples were presented with many gifts during the open house and reception.

Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. John Paterra, Ida Cornelia and Mrs. Peter Cina.

Out of Town Guests

Guests attended from area towns and from Vandergrift, Braddock, Cleveland and Warren, Ohio and New Jersey.

Last night Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cavalli left by plane for Boston, Mass., where they will live while both attend Boston Conservatory of Music. John also returned by plane to Carthagena, Ohio to resume his studies.

Janet Debnar Lawrence Matty Are Married

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Janet Debnar to Lawrence Matty, which took place on Thursday, Sept. 5, at 9 a. m., at St. Jerome Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Michael Bociak of Charleroi R. D.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace embroidered with sequins and styled floor length. She carried a cascade of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. David Shaver of Belle Vernon, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore pale blue and carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white chrysanthemums.

James Lucas of Long Branch was best man.

After a reception at the Charleroi Elks Club the couple left for a southern trip. They plan to reside in Blairsville.

Red Rose Club Is Entertained At Penningtons

A meeting of the Red Rose Club was held on Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. James Pennington of Morgan Ave. Mrs. Berry Perman was in charge and gave the opening prayer.

During the business session plans were made to have a get-together next Saturday evening at the Pennington home on the occasion of Mrs. Pennington's birthday anniversary.

Mrs. William Smith of Highland Ave. was named next hostess.

Two District Brothers Wed On Same Day

Announcement has been made of the marriage of two brothers to area girls on Aug. 29.

Mavis Orient became the bride of Russell Perney, and Gail Carlson was wed to Henry Perney. The two young men are sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Perney of 1010 Monongahela St., Priecdale.

Miss Orient is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Orient of Castner St., Donora. She became the bride of Russell Perney on Aug. 29 in Cumberland, Md. The couple is now living at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Carlson, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Wendell Carlson, Speer St., Belle Vernon, and Henry Perney exchanged their nuptial vows in Winchester, Va. After a wedding trip to visit the bridegroom's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and and Mrs. Robert Springs, Tarpon Springs, Fla., they will reside at the Carlson home.

'Last Game' Honors for Bucco Nine

The honor of playing the last major league baseball games at both Ebbets Field and the Polo Grounds will go to the Pittsburgh Pirates if the Dodgers and Giants both move, as anticipated, to the Pacific Coast in 1958 . . . The NL card for the remainder of the season calls for the Buccos battling the Dodgers at Ebbets Field on September 24 and at the Polo Grounds on Sept. 28 and 29, both of the host teams closing their seasons at home on those dates . . . A former Pirate standout Elbie Fletcher, who use dto make the hard ones look easy around first base is now selling insurance in Milton, Mass., where he is also president of the Little League there.

Amateur Golf Tabbed Top-notch Investment

By OSCAR FRALEY

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UP) — Amateur golf is a business and the losing $1 Nassau is the greatest business investment in the world

This is the honest word today from Gene Andrews, a happy-go-lucky insurance man from Beverly Hills, Calif. He makes no secret of the fact that, to people who sell, playing in national tournaments is worth its weight in dollars as well as divots.

"If I could win the National Amateur," he confessed after advancing through the first round at the country club, "it would be worth $25,000 a year for life."

This will have the holier-than-thou amateur officials spinning on their heels But Big Gene is merely facing facts.

It Draws Customers

"The reputation I get out of playing in national and international golf is worth $15,000 a year to me," he estimated. "Let's face it. The customers like to play golf with me if I can play well. And if they can beat me out of three dollars on a Nassau bet, they're tickled to death. Not that I lose intentionally. I don't. But, if I do lose, it's a helluva investment."

This situation, if you can call it one, is no international secret. The golfing fathers simply prefer to ignore it. Harvie Ward, the two-time Amateur champ who is sitting out a year in sackcloth and ashes for accepting too much expense money, was one of the nation's most valuable automobile salesmen. He didn't attract customers on his personality alone Harvie played 'em a round and, during the inspired spirit of camaraderie on the course naturally accepted all orders.

Charged To Expenses

Full proof of Andrews' admissions is the fact that Uncle Sam pays for his competitive appearances in such events as the U.S., British and French Amateur championships.

"They're highly necessary to my business," explains the 44-year-old native Missourian who won the National Public Links championship in 1954 and twice has been Los Angeles city champion. "So naturally I can charge my expenses off."

Gene's favorite advice to customers who want "tips" on golf is summed up in one word: "Practice."

"Once you have the technique that where the rest of the pros hit "Ben Hogan's record bears that out. Jim Demaret alway said that wheret he rest of the pros hit 50 or a hundred practice balls, Hogan always hits a thousand."

Flu Hits Squad

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UP) — Florida football coach Bob Woodruff, said today only seven players with previous college experience have escaped a siege of influenza or injuries that struck his team. Twenty-eight gridiron candidates were taken ill with the flu.

Dukes Lose Giant 6-11 Cage Star

Duquesne University's basketball coach Dudey Moore had a "long face" today.

Reason? — Warnell Jones, 6-foot-11½ Negro schoolboy basketball, star, said today he has changed his mind and decided to enter the university of California in Los Angeles.

Last week Jones, 17, had said he planned to enroll at Duquesne University, one of 25 other schools trying to lure him to its campus.

Expressing regret over that premature announcement he said he will accept a four-year scholarship at UCLA instead.

"I believe I'll have a better chance of making All-American if I play in California," he explained. "I'm used to a warmer climate than I'd find at Duquesne."

Perez Credits Reducing for Easy Victory

NEW YORK (UP)—Lightweight Lulu Perez explained today that reducing made him so fast and accurate he won handily over Bobby Bell in their return TV fight at St. Nicholas Arena.

Perez of Brooklyn scaled 131¼ pounds Monday night as he won an upset, unanimous 10-round decision over Bell, of Youngstown, Ohio, who had held him to a draw in the same ring three weeks ago

That was 4½ pounds lighter for Lulu Bell, favored at 8-5, registered the same 128½ as he had scaled on Aug 19

Despite his victory, Perez automatically was placed on the N.Y. State Athletic Commission's "ill and unavailable" list for 30 days because of a seven-stitch gash on his left brow suffered in the fourth round.

When Lulu returns to action he will be offered another TV fight at St Nick's with either Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico or Isidio Martinez of Panama, promoter Teddy Brenner said.

After Bell was penalized the eighth round for a low-blow foul the three ring officials favored Perez on a rounds basis 8-2, 6-4, 5-4-1.

Pirates Battle Braves Tonight

MILWAUKEE (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, battling for a seventh-place finish, play the Milwaukee Braves tonight in the first game of their last swing through the west this season.

Whammy Douglas (3-2) drew the starting pitching assignment for the Pirates against Lew Burdette (14-7).

During the western tour the Pirates will play four games against the Chicago Cubs, who now are in the cellar by a half-game and fighting to wrest seventh place from the Bucs

St. Monica, St. Lucy Post St. Cajetan Wins

St. Monica and St. Lucy made clean sweeps in St. Cajetan R. C. Church Ladies Bowling League action at the CIO alleys, topping St Margaret and St. Catherines last night.

Best "pin-dumpers" were Carrie Palm 144-366; Yolanda Diehl 154-370; Virginia Oliver 107-276; and Peggy Singel 141-397.

'We're Almost Ready', Says Coach Niccolai

Armand Niccolai, Monessen High School's veteran grid coach, stated today that the Greyhounds were "almost ready" for their Saturday night opener with Windber despite considerable "brushing up" needed on faults noticed in a scrimmage session Saturday.

"We fumbled too much and made several other mistakes which could hurt in a game but we'll concentrate on correcting those errors between now and Saturday," Niccolai stated.

The 'Hound coach stated he was almost set on his starting lineup but is having difficulty deciding between four ends as to who will get the two starting berths

Paul Tobacco, a senior letterman and George Guibourdanche appear to have the slight inside track now but are hard-pressed by Dennis O'Toole and Steve Burns

With Ed Allen's leg injury not responding to treatment, the weight average will go down considerably if the 260-pounder does not start at tackle. Instead the two tackle posts will be held by James (Bobo) Aldrich 168-pound senior, and Vince Pascarella (previously) listed as a guard) a 202-pound junior.

Bob Pauline, senior letterman and Terry Throop, a junior who goes 175 have almost clinched the guard positions

In the backfield Don Barton will start closely pressed by Carl Payne, 165-pound junior. Ken Bronson, 150-pound junior holdover halfback, and letter-winner Joe Karbowsky appear to the starting halves with Carl Rattay, 180-pound junior fullback and a letterman, recuperated from his injuries and prepared to start at that spot.

A route map to Windber will be published here before Saturday.

Midget Gridders in 1957 Season Opener At Stadium Tonight

Lincoln Battles Frank-Lin at 7:15 p. m. Followed by Jefferson-Vocational Tilt

Everything was set for the opening games of the 1957 season for the Monessen Midget Football League at the Stadium here tonight.

A double-bill has Frank-Lin, tutored by Alex (Mooney) Kachmarik battling Dale Simpson's Lincoln entry at 7:15 o'clock with a Jefferson-Vocational tilt to follow.

Vocational, coached by Bucky Lutes is the defending champion, will field a team which shows only three '56 holdovers, right guard James Beeler, right end Doug Crusan and fullback Ralph Nussaci. Left end Russell Jones and the right half Paul Barton are the only 12-year-olds or "seniors" on the starting eleven. Carmen DeMarco pilots the Jeffersons.

All four coaches named their starting lineups this morning.

For the Lincolns in the opener Simpson has Lloyd Alrich and Vaugh Williams at the ends, Nick Vassilahis and Ron Smith at the tackles: Bruce Davies and Claude Garry at the guards, and Jack Kachmarik at center, up front. Skip Stevenson will be at quarterback with Stanley Hawlin and Bill Lanemore at halfbacks and Frank Destefano at fullback.

Countering this lineup will be Frank-Lin starters, B. Kachmarik and Ron Chomko at the ends; John Tweardy and James Saxon at the tackles; Garry Weible and Wayne Ciepiela at the guards and Joe Mallino at center; Bill Tweardy at quarterback, John Popovich and John Tuciani at the halfback and Gerry Francia at fullback.

The Vocational and Jefferson lineups follow below.

Monessen's High School band will participate in tonight's opener with the Ravens handling the various assignments usually taken care of by service and fraternal groups of the City.

Baker Decisions Canadian Heavy

TORONTO (UP) — Big Bob Baker, 219½, of Pittsburgh weathered a tough eighth round Monday night to score a unanimous decision over 19-year-old George Chuvalo 213, of Toronto in a 10-round bout at Maple Leaf Gardens.

Chuvalo, Toronto's young heavyweight hopeful, fighting over 10 rounds for the first time in his short professional career, walloped Baker with a series of swinging rights to the head in the eighth, but lacked the strength to finish him off Baker lasted to the bell and came back strongly in the ninth

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Sloppy Swinging

The attempt to apply full power from the beginning of the downswing remains a wide-spread fault whever golf is played. And I'm convinced that this fault adds more strokes to golf scores than any other.

One way to get around it is to think the swing and the shot through before stepping up to the ball. Picture the backswing as a smooth operation designed to get the hands into proper hitting position. Think of starting down slowly and smoothly, with the body still on balance. Think of meeting the ball solidly in the middle of the clubface, with the head still in place.

Think of hitting on through the ball with both hands, with both forearms going on through. Think of finishing with the hands high and the body still on balance. In short, get the complete picture in your head.

Then take your stance, waggle properly, go smoothly into the swing, and maintain a confident attitude.

Opening Night Action In PS Office League

Opening its 1957-58 season under new president Bernie Singel, the Pittsburgh Steel Company Office League swung into action last night with the Engineers blanking Payroll, and the Order team shutting out Production, Shipping edging General, 2-1.

High scores were rolled by Evancho 182-482; Salay 190-469; Lipnicky 183-446; B. Singel 174-468; H. Johnson 182-455; and Myers 153-408.

Standings — Engineers 3-0 Order 3-0; Shipping 2-1; General 1-2; Payroll 0-3 and Production 0-3.

Opening night ceremonies prior to team competition featured the rolling of a frame each by Steve Pfiester, chairman of the City Recreation Board and Clair Brown, sports editor of The Daily Independent. Pfiester managed a strike to edge Brown, who "just missed" a spare.

Standings: Wedges 2-1; Squares 1-2; Arches 0-0; Keys 0-0.

Parker Shaking Up Steelers

Three Get Position Switches

LIGONIER, Pa. (UP)—Buddy Parker, whose Pittsburgh Steelers have won two straight exhibition victories since he took over as head coach, planned assignment changes for at least three players today as the club opened drills for Saturday's pre-season game with the Chicago Bears at Pittsburgh.

Lineup switches included the shifting of veteran George Tarasovic from linebacker to defensive end, second year lineman Joe Krupa from offensive guard to defensive tackle and rookie Bill Michael from end to offensive guard.

Tarasovic, recovering from the effects of an Asian flu shot, played end when he came up to the Steelers from Louisiana State. Krupa, a tackle at Purdue and with Pittsburgh last season, returns to that position. In moving to offensive guard, Michael, an Ohio State star in 1956, joins another converted end, Bob O'Neil.

This week's game will be the second meeting of the Bears and Steelers of the exhibition season. Chicago beat Pittsburgh, 24-7, at Jacksonville, Fla.

Panther Drills Stepped Up; Stolitza Back

PITTSBURGH (UP)—With the opening game with Oklahoma less than two weeks away, University of Pittsburgh football coach John Michelosen and his aides stepped up practice drills Monday by sending the squad through a rough contact session.

End Paul Stolitza, of Bethel, who quit the squad last week because of dissatisfaction with his progress, returned and took part in the workout. Ray Carion, Springdale, also an end, who left with Stolitza, failed to come back.

Three linemen were out of action because of injuries. Center Don Crafton, Donora, suffered a bruised shoulder in scrimmage Saturday and guard Dan Wisniewski, Erie, was laid up for at least a week with a torn leg ligament. Guard Henry Soffolette previously had been sidelined by a sprained shoulder.

Orioles Recall Pappas

BALTIMORE (UP) — Milt Pappas, 18-year-old right - handed pitcher, has been recalled by the Baltimore Orioles from Knoxville of the Sally League where he had an 0-1 record in three games this year. Pappas also pitched in three games for the Orioles earlier this season.

World Series to Open Oct. 5 at AL Field

NEW YORK (UP)—Information on the 1957 World Series, as announced by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick after a meeting Monday with the interested teams:

Starting date—Wed. Oct. 2, unless a best - of - three playoff for National League pennant forces a delay until Thurs., Oct. 3.

Playing dates — Consecutive dates if two east teams (Yankees-Dodgers) or two west teams (White Sox-Braves or White Sox-Cards) play; day off for travel after 2nd and 5th games if it's an East-West (Yankees - Braves or Yankees-Cards or White Sox-Dodgers) series.

Games — First two in park of American League team; 3rd, 4th, 5th (if necessary) in National League park; 6th, 7th in American League park.

Ticket prices — Same as last year: Box seats $10, reserved grandstand $7; standing room $4; bleachers $2; plus tax. Frick rejected idea of raising prices.

Ticket printing — Frick refused to grant any team permission to start printing tickets yet.

In other action, Frick rejected a request by the Braves they be permitted to sell bleacher seats in strips of three like reserved seats and ruled teams could travel by plane from one site to another if they leave the night of the game just finished, or early the next morning, to allow time for a switch to trains if the flight is cancelled.

Although nine teams still are in the running for the two pennants, only five were represented at Monday's meeting in Frick's office. They were the Yankees, White Sox, Braves, Cardinals, and Dodgers.

Stubbs - Dawson In Rankin Bout

RANKIN, Pa. (UP) — Reybon Stubbs, Pittsburgh welterweight whose record shows 19 victories against two losses, meets Wayman Dawson, Youngstown, Ohio, lightweight, in an eight-round rematch at Rankin Stadium tonight.

The card includes three other eight-rounders and one four-round match. In a heavyweight bout, Alonzo Johnson, Braddock meets Calvin Butler, Cleveland. The other eights pit Johnny Morris, Pittsburgh middleweight, against Clarence Alford, Cleveland, and Art Mayorga, Youngstown, against Dick Blakson, Aliquippa.

In the four-rounder, lightheavyweight Mert Brownfield, Turtle Creek, battles Tony Sinabaldi, Youngstown.

In their previous fight, Stubbs scored a clean decision over Dawson.

Sawyer TKOs Willie Coleman; No Henry Bout

ARNOLD, Pa. (UP)—Garvin Sawyer, 191¾, Cincinnati heavyweight tutored by ex-champion Jersey Joe Walcott, scored a technical knockout over Willie Coleman, 197, of Detroit, in the fourth-round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Leslie Stadium Monday night by dropping his opponent three times.

A right-left combination to the head sent Coleman to the canvas for the first time in the fourth round. Coleman arose at the count of seven, but a short left to the jaw dropped him for a three-count. A short right to the jaw then put Coleman down for a three-count and referee Buck McTiernan stopped the fight under a rule directing a TKO after three knockdowns in the same round.

The victory was the 12th against three defeats for Sawyer, who is managed by Tom Tannas and trains under Walcott at Pleasantville, N.J.

Buck Henry, local boxer, failed to show for his bout.

Yanks Buy More Insurance, Get Bobby DelGreco from Chicago

By MILTON RICHMAN

The Yankees never take any chances, so even with a fat 5½-game lead and Mickey Mantle back in uniform, they bought a bit of added pennant insurance today by acquiring outfielder Bobby Del Greco from the Chicago Cubs.

Mantle, feeling "much better" after a four-day stay in the hospital because of shin splints, was given the green light to play against Cleveland tonight if he wants and he indicated he would. He still trails ailing Ted Williams in the fight for the batting crown, .369 to .376.

Although Hank Bauer, recovering from a broken bone in his right thumb, also may be ready to face the Indians, the Yankees felt they could use another experienced outfielder for the stretch run. Hence, the purchase of the 24-year-old Del Greco from the Cubs.

The chunky, right - handed hitting outfielder spent most of the current season with Montreal of the International League, from where the Cubs recalled him Monday. He had a .278 batting average that included seven home runs in 118 games with the Royals.

Shortly after the Cubs brought him up, the Yankees offered an unspecified sum of cash plus a player to be delivered next year and the deal was made.

"Worst Deal" Recalled

Del Greco may be remembered as one of the central figures in what General Manager Frank Lane calls "the worst deal" he ever made. Lane and Cardinal manager Fred Hutchinson personally scouted Del Greco one day while he still was with Pittsburgh and saw him connect for two homers.

The Cardinal pair were so favorably impressed that they dealt off Bill Virdon to the Pirates in exchange for Del Greco, May 16, 1956. But Del Greco failed to hit for the Cards and they traded him to the Cubs for outfielder Jim King last April. Shortly afterward, the Cubs sent him down.

"He's young, though, and he could help us the next few weeks," explained a Yankee spokesman.

In any case, the Yankees, with 16 games remaining, take on the western invaders for the last time this season. Right - hander Bob Turley, the world champs' most consistent pitcher recently, will face southpaw Don Mossi of the Tribe tonight.

After tonight's game and one Wednesday with Cleveland, the Yanks will have a first-hand opportunity to widen their lead against the second - place Chicago White Sox, whom they meet Friday and Saturday.

Braves At Home

Casey Stengel said lefty Bobby Shantz will pitch against Cleveland Wednesday and that it will be Whitey Ford and Tom Sturdivant against the White Sox. Billy Pierce and Dick Donovan are Al Lopez' nominees to go against the Yankees.

Over in the National League, where the Milwaukee Braves also have a 5½-game lead, they face the happy prospect of playing 15 of their 18 remaining games at home.

Pittsburgh supplies Milwaukee's opposition tonight, with rookie Whammy Douglas of the Pirates slated to face Lew Burdette.

The second - place Cardinals, at home against the Phillies, will send Sam Jones against Harvey Haddix, while the third - place Dodgers, seven games back but still hoping for a miracle, have nominated left-handed Sandy Koufax to oppose Don Elston of the Cubs at Chicago.

The Giants are at Cincinnati in the other scheduled NL game.

No major league games were played Monday.

Merlo Wins Title

BADEN - BADEN, Germany (UP) — A brief moment of glory was over today for Rupert Huber, a 26-year-old German tennis player. Giuseppe Merlo of Italy beat Huber, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, Sunday in the final of the Baden-Baden International Tournament after Huber had upset former Wimbledon champion Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt in the semi-finals.

Cookie Lavagetto To Return as '58 Senators' Pilot

WASHINGTON (UP)—Club President Calvin Griffith said today Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto will be rehired to manage the Washington Senators next year.

Griffith indicated Lavagetto will be signed for the 1958 season "sometime this week" and that the former Brooklyn Dodger third baseman would be given a raise in salary.

"We haven't talked contract yet," said Griffith, "but I'd like to have him back again next year and I know he'd like to be back. He's done a real good job for us this year."

Lavagetto started the current season as a coach with the Senators and succeeded Charlie Dressen as manager after the Senators had won only four of their first 20 games. Under Lavagetto's leadership, the Senators have won 48 games and lost 68.

Since the All-Star game, Washington won 27 and lost 28, winning seven series during that span, including two from the New York Yankees.

Washington currently is in seventh place, a half-game ahead of the last-place Kansas City Athletics.

Bold Ruler Wins

NEW YORK (UP) — Preakness champion Bold Ruler, out of action with injuries since June 15, returned to the races Monday to win the $15,000 Times Square Handicap at Belmont Park by five lengths in 1:10 1-5 for six furlongs.

Deer 'Spotlighters' Run Afoul of Law

Despite the generally known fact that "jacklighting" deer is illegal there still are persons who must learn the hard way that the practice is not only wrong but costly. Here are two recent incidents that prove the point.

Early the morning of July 27, Game Protector Ralph Shank and one of his Deputies, Alvin Klinger were on patrol near Tyrone City, Schuylkill County. At approximately 2:30 a.m. they saw a deer shot and killed by the aid of a spotlight attached to a motor vehicle. The officers intercepted the auto as it left the scene. The driver and occupants of the car were women and children who denied any knowledge of the shooting.

Evidence and information at the scene caused officers Shank and Klinger to place the Tower City residents of the vehicle owner under surveillance. About 5 a.m. they apprehended the owner of the car, husband of the woman driver mentioned, and a male relative from Reinerton, Pa. The Reinerton man was carrying a shotgun at the time. The hands and clothing of both men were bloodstained. Questioned, the suspects admitted shooting from the auto and killing a doe deer, as seen by the officers. The accused were arrainged before a Tower City justice of the peace and charged with the violation. Each defendant entered a plea of guilty on both counts, and each paid $200 fine, plus costs.

As provided by the Game Law, the vehicle used in the illegal act — a two-door Plymouth convertible — was confiscated in the name of the Commonwealth. Confiscated also were the shotgun and spotlight used in the deer killing. The automobile has been advertised for public sale by auction, as prescribed by law. The firearm and flashlight will be similarly sold.

On the night of August 10 Game Protector Russell Meyer took a position, in a Perry County valley, where he could listen and watch for reported deer shooting. Before long the silence was broken by a rifle shot, farther up the valley. A short time later within approximately 120 yards of the Game Protector an auto stopped. The rays of a spotlight were cast onto a field by someone in the machine. Another shot was fired, then the car proceeded toward the officer. Meyer stopped the vehicle and inspected it. In it were two man from Mt. Union, Pa. They possessed a rifle and a spotlight operated off the car battery. A search of the jacklighted area revealed a dying doe deer. The defendants then admitted killing the animal from the car.

The two culprits, given a hearing before a New Bloomfield justice of the peace, were fined $200 each and costs of prosecution. The Buick hardtop sedan and the rifle and spotlight used in the illegal shooting were confiscated. This seized equipment will be sold by the Game Commission in the manner prescribed by law.

In addition to the penalties and losses enumerated in these two cases, each of the four men involved will automatically by law be denied the right to hunt or trap in Pennsylvania for a period of three years.

Recently, Game Protector Roger Wolz received word a large raccoon was occupying the chimney of an apartment house in Erie. Says Wolz, "Deputy Tambaugh and I removed the coon, which convinced us it was unhappy at being ousted from its cozy abode.

"This animal had an ideal setup. The branches of a large elm tree overhang the roof of the building. Each evening the coon would go up the chimney, cross the roof and go down the tree to raid neighborhood garbage cans returning early next morning over the same route."

USES HOBBY — Cartoonist-cameraman Wilson McCoy uses his hobby to supply him with characters for his popular Daily Independent strip "The Phantom." His shot of a native in Libya eventually served as the model for a jungle guide in a recent sequence of the strip which is read by 30,000,000 people around the world.

'Phantom' Creator Makes Use of Hobby

Art and photography have married to enhance the deeds of derring-do performed by the popular comic strip hero "The Phantom," also known to his 30,000,000 readers and the jungle people as "the ghost who walks."

The marriage was performed by "The Phantom's" creator, Wilson McCoy, who, as a camera fan, has made his hobby pay business dividends in the form of authentic backgrounds for the cartoon.

Most of "The Phantom's" true-to-life backgrounds were gathered on four recent overseas trips the illustrator took to entertain members of the Armed forces. His junkets included parts of Europe, Northern Africa, the Near East, Korea and Japan.

The resourceful (Daily Independent) cartoonist has developed a picture-taking technique that other camera fans might wish to emulate. He uses two 35 mm Leicas but in a unique arrangement bolts them together, bottom to bottom, on a home-made bar that hangs from a single strap.

"Sometimes I use them to take both color and black and white simultaneously," he said. "At other times I have used different focal length lenses to get the same picture in two different perspectives."

People as well as places may find themselves in future strips for McCoy says:

"I find that using human models makes the strip appear to be more 'alive' and real than if I merely used characters drawn from my imagination."

New Saving Plan Added at Mellon Bank

A new saving plan has been added to the services of the Mellon National Bank and Trust Co., which has a Monessen office at 560 Donner Ave.

Called the Thrifti-Save Plan, the new system works like this:

The customer determines how much he wants to save during the next two or three years. After he makes a small initial deposit, the bank lends him the entire amount of his savings goal at a special reduced rate.

The money is deposited in his Thrifti-Save account and the total sum earns the bank's regular 2½ per cent interest. The depositor makes regular monthly payments on his special loan and, through the entire payment period, group life insurance covers the unpaid portion.

Two different type plans are available up to $5000 in multiples of $100.

To Remodel Store

The Italian Food Store, located at 415 Donner Ave., Monessen, is being remodeled.

Mrs. Mary Colangel, owner, said the new store front will include a lighted sign and will be decorated with gold aluminum paneling.

The building will be painted to complement the new front.

The remodeling work is under contract to the Derby Construction Co., Monessen.

The firm started in the poultry business in 1921 in the building now occupied by Check's Furniture. In 1925, it moved to the present location and the store has since specialized in imported and domestic Italian food.

Auto Training

Donald W. Lynn, Webster, has completed his training at the Bear Manufacturing Company's Automotive Safety Service School in Rock Island, Ill.

Lynn received training in alinement and balancing as well as learning the latest safety techniques.

He is employed at the Everett Lynn Garage in Webster.

Great Lakes Cruise

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Krasik of Monessen were the guests of Westinghouse Electric Corp. this week for a five-day, all expense cruise on the Great Lakes.

Krasik's Furniture Store was one of 16 Westinghouse appliance dealers from the Tri-State area to take top honors in a sales contest during June and July.

The Krasiks were transported to the Great Lakes by a chartered plane.

Like to Travel

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government reported that Americans took 48 million travel trips away from home during the first 15 weeks of this year. The report, part of a preliminary study of American travel habits to be issued this week, showed 21 million trips were to visit friends or relatives, 14 million for business and 13 million for pleasure jaunts.

WASHDAY PLAY — This homemaker washes and dries practically everything — even the nylon petticoat — in her automatic washer and electric dryer. The washer has a special setting for delicate fabrics and the dryer tumbles it soft and fluffy dry on low heat. And because the equipment is flameless, it is perfecly safe for the children to play in the utility room when mother does the laundry.

Shopping Guide for Automatic Dryers

So you have decided to go modern, throw away your clothesline and clothespins, and buy an automatic clothes dryer!

Although you know that any automatic dryer is better than line-drying, chances are you're wondering what make is best suited to your needs. This brief shopping guide may help answer some of your buying questions.

First, remember that all clothes dryers are tumbler type, with a large rotating drum or cylinder inside a counter-height cabinet. Clothes are placed inside the drum and tumble as it revolves. Incoming air is heated, then circulated through the drum by a fan or blower.

When shopping for an automatic dryer, consider the place in your home where the dryer will be located. Often the humid air is disposed of through an outlet connected to the outside by a metal duct or vent. However, if the dryer is to be used in a large room, cross-ventilation may be sufficient. Perhaps a ventilating fan will solve the problem.

Although automatic dryers are generally similar in size and capacity, they differ in many details The dryer door may pull down, or open at left or right. The exterior surface may be porcelain or baked enamel. In any case, look for smooth, easy-to-clean surfaces, especially drum interior.

Types of dryer controls vary with different models. Some have thermostatic heat controls that are regulated according to the fabric, while others are set according to the desired degree of heat. There are automatic dryers featuring controls to regulate the desired length of drying time, while others are set according to the type of load to be dried Any type of controls automatically shuts off the heat at the end of the drying cycle.

Although one may dry faster than another, remember that drying speed also is dependent on the quantity of water extracted by your washer.

Don't hesitate to ask for a demonstration and ask your husband to check mechanical features. Take initial costs and operating costs into consideration. It's also important to check the manufacturer's and dealer's reputations.

Says Labor Will Clean Out Crooks

By WILLIAM J. EATON

WASHINGTON (UP)—AFL-CIO secretary - treasurer William F. Schnitzler said today the labor movement will "finish the job" of cleaning out racketeers and crooks within its ranks.

He also asserted that organized labor has stricter ethical standards than many business concerns.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the AFL-CIO Transit Workers convention here, Schnitzler said the AFL-CIO, will be stronger because of the clean-up drive.

"We don't want the guy who extorts from an employer, or who sells out his own members, or who consorts with racketeers, or who dips into the union treasury," Schnitzler said.

"And what's more we are in the process of ridding ourselves of all this vermin that has infected the trade union movement."

Schnitzler said the AFL-CIO ethical practices code contains the basic standards of morality and decency of the trade union movement and not "fancy language" or "pious platitudes."

"Either you are honest or you are crooked," he said. "There's no middle ground."

Reports on corruption charges in the Teamsters, Bakery Workers and Textile Workers unions are now being prepared by the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee. The unions could be ordered to clean up or get out of the AFL-CIO as a result of charges filed against them.

Schnitzler contended the labor movement is more concerned with ethical practices than some business leaders.

"Corporation officials think nothing of morals as they do everything necessary to make a fast buck," he said.

Twp. Education Group Meets

The Rostraver Christian Education Council met recently at Fells Methodist Church with the Rev. J. Nelson Jackaway, outgoing president, in charge. Prayer was offered by Clarence Bush.

Bill Smith reported on the success of Church Night at the recent Rostraver Twp. Fair. Reports were also given by Madge Hamilton, acting secretary, and Clarence Bush, finances.

The relief-time education classes were discussed and plans made to continue the classes as well as possible. Several churches, it was said, have not yet responded to letters on this matter.

Mrs. Madge Hamilton was made dean of the school; Violet Winstone, assistant; the Rev. Frederick Burchell, president; Bill Smith, vice president; Kathyrn Jugan, secretary; Florence Frank, assistant secretary, and Thomas McCall, treasurer.

McCall gave a detailed report of the ways and means committee and spoke on the possibility of purchasing two buses for use by township churches.

The resignations of the Rev. Mr. Jackaway, president; Mrs. Thorpe, secretary, and Clarence Bush, were accepted.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 30 at Fells Church.

The meeting closed with prayer by the Rev. Henry Frank.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Echart and family, David, Linda, Cathy and Randy, of Sweeney Plan, and Gwen Wood, of Pricedale, visited Sunday at Story Book Forest in Ligonier.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hughes and daughter, Susan, visited horseshoe curve at Altoona Sunday.

Mrs. Robson Is Given Family Birthday Fete

A family birthday party was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Echart, of Johnson Ave., in honor Mrs. Echart's grandmother, Mrs. Robson, who celebrated her 75th birthday.

The cake was baked by her daughter, Mrs. Hazel Hill, and Mrs. Echart.

Present were her daughters, Mrs. Hazel Hill, Irene Robson, of Johnson Ave.; another daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle Lewis, and Mrs. Joan Lewis Daub, of New Jersey; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Echart, and a great grandson, Scott Echart.

Mrs. Daub is leaving this month to join her husband, who is stationed in Germany.

New School Plans Submitted To State Building Authority

Architect drawings for a $400,000 elementary school in Rostraver Twp. have been submitted to the state Public School Building Authority in Harrisburg for approval, according to a progress report made to the Rostraver School Board during its regular September meeting last night.

James Divvens, Philadelphia architect, advised the directors that pre-final drawings were submitted to the state a month ahead of schedule.

"We are hoping that bids will be advertised by mid-October and contracts awarded soon after," Divvens said. "That will make it possible to begin work this year before the really cold weather sets in."

The modern elementary building will be located near the present Junior High in the Sweeney Plan. It will have its own gym, cafeteria and kindergarten.

Divvens said the structure of the building will be the same as the Junior High except that little steel will be used. Istead the walls will be load-bearing.

Complaint Night

The Board spent a good part of its time last night listening to complaints from teachers and parents.

Joseph Galayda, an elementary teacher, protested his assignment to a sixth grade class at Rostraver. Galayda told the Board he had taught double-grades for two successive years at the Webster School and was under the impression that he was to be in charge of the fourth grade this year.

"I was perfectly happy in Webster where I made many friends," he said. "I have devoted myself to the teaching profession but it is discouraging to be pushed around year after year."

Superintendnetn of Schools E. F. Carter said the reassignment was made because Galayda was the youngest teacher in the point of service on the Webster faculty.

A music instructor, Joseph Laber, asked the Board for an increase in salary, pointing out that his pay after three years in the school system was only slightly higher than that of a new teacher. The Board took his request under consideration and asked Carter to prepare a formula for raising salaries and to submit the cost of such a plan.

Grant Requests

John Pelar, band director, asked the Board to renew his $500 reimbursement for extra-hour duties with the band. He also requested permission to attend a band festival at Belle Vernon on Oct. 8.

Both requests were granted but not before the Board scolded Pelar for not conducting the summer music program in the township. Pelar replied that the Directors had offered only $2 per hour for his time, whereas "other districts offered quite a bit more."

Several parents appeared before the board to seek bus transportation for their small children, some of whom have to walk a mile on secluded roads.

Harry Flemming, in charge of transportation, explained to the Board that the fleet of ten buses employed by the School District "hasn't a moment" to lose on additional runs.

However the transportation committee agreed to look into each complaint. The Board also voted to put the new bus, soon to arrive, on the trip into Van Meter.

Other major items at the meeting included:

Assistant Coaches — George Estock was elected assistant varsity football coach at a salary of $300 with only Director Rudolph Godzak objecting. Bill Overand was elected assistant junior high coach at a salary of $150 even though he did not apply for the position. Godzak did not vote.

Solictor — The Board delayed action on naming a solicitor. Only the applcaton of attorney Bernard Shire, Monessen, was presented to the meeting. However several directors said they had been informed that another Monessen attorney had submitted an application. It was suggested that the application may have been held up in the mail.

Teachers Salary — Secretary Marion Driscoll told the Board there was some confusion over the salary due two teachers and principal Clifford Naylor. The Board instructed Miss Driscoll to pay the teachers, Mrs. Mary Jane Scholl and Norma Reese $3200 and Naylor $7,000 until a solicitor was named to study the problem.

Hire Cook — Mrs. Rose Hughes, Fellsburg, was hired as a cook in the Junior High cafeteria.

Okay Requests — The Board approved use of the Lebanon School on Oct. 12 by the Womenn's club of Fellsburg; use of the high school auditorium on Dec. 20 and the Junior High cafeteria on Feb. 13 by the Rostraver PTA; and use of the Junior High cafeteria on Sept. 21 by the Fair Committee.

Reject Request — A request by the S-Y Market for possble use of the Junior High gym for a square dance in case of rain was rejected even though the Board did not vote on the issue. The Directors said they felt the use of the Junior High facilities should be restricted to school groups in the future.

Furniture Bids — Bids on furniture and lightning protection were opened and ordered tabulated. The awarding of a contract for garbage removal was also delayed to further study.

File Applications — Applications for the poston of bus drver were received and filed from John A. Miller and Raymond Beckinger. Chris Malone submitted an application for janitor.

Hungarian Hall Scene of Recent Auxiliary Meet

The regular meeting of the Hungarian Ladies Auxiliary of Pricedale was held on Thursday evening at Hungarian Hall. President Eileen Huber was in charge.

Following The Lord's Prayer, reports on the recent picnic were given by Alberta Larson. Reports were also given by Helen Hughes and Irene Ferencz on July and August card parties. It was also reported that Mrs. Margaret Halkowitz is a patient in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital. Another member, Julia Onderko, is on the sick list.

The door prize was won by Joan Tegal and special prizes were given to Thelma Rosborough, Dorothy Nagy and Julia Connor. The birthdays of Marge Beregi and Edith Thot were observed and each received a cake and handkerchiefs. They sat at a table decorated in their honor.

The social committee was headed by Betty Scotch assisted by Jay Sabo, Julia and Joanna Semancik, Mary Smericznick and Thelma Rosborough.

Auto Parking Policy Is Outlined Under New City Zoning Ordinance

(This is the fifth of six articles detailing some of the provisions of a proposed new zoning ordinance in Monessen. Parking, signs and special uses are treated in today's article.)

Monessen's proposed new zoning ordinance goes along with the modern concept that automobile parking is largely a responsibility of the property owner and only in extraordinary circumstances does it become a government obligation.

Accordingly the ordinance proposes that parking spaces be provided for each new structure according to its needs. For instance, each future church, theater or auditorium would be expected to provide one off-street parking stall for every eight seats. Each future hospital would provide a parking stall for every 800 square feet of floor area.

Other examples of parking requirements include: restaurants and bars, one stall for each 100 square feet of floor area; funeral homes, four stalls for each chapel, but no fewer than twelve stalls; other commercial buildings one stall for 200 square feet of floor area; residences, one stall for each dwelling.

These standards were developed by traffic and parking specialists and tested in cities throughout the country. The purpose of the regulations would be to relieve future street congestion.

The proposed ordinance also contains provisions requiring off-street truck loading space where goods are received or distributed by truck, with the object of relieving bottlenecks created when trucks load and unload from the street.

Exceptions are provided for the downtown business district where land is extremely valuable and often unavailable at any cost to property owners for private parking development. In this district parking areas contemplated by the comprehensive community plan now in preparation would abut certain streets of the business district. It is expected that these parking facilities would be provided by a combination of public and private enterprise.

Signs and billboards would become subject to zoning for the first time under the new ordinance. The overhanging sign would disappear from Monessen within five years, and large size billboards could be erected only in areas where they would not intrude on residential districts or distract drivers on major thorough-fares.

The proposed ordinance suggests that signs in commercial areas project no more than 12 inches from the wall of the building to which they are attached and that all portions of projecting signs be 10 feet or more above the sidewalk.

In residential areas only small nameplates, church bulletin boards and real estate "for sale" signs would be permitted. Existing signs would be permitted to continue five years before being required to conform to the regulations.

The ordinance recognizes the need for flexibility where certain types of structures are concerned. Such uses include large institutions, garden apartment developments, garbage or refuse disposal plants, public buildings and public utility buildings. The ordinance spells out the conditions under which such uses will be permitted in various districts.

Allowance of these special conditions in all cases involves submission to City authorities of a complete site plan so that the effect of the proposed use upon surrounding property may be accurately anticipated.

(Tomorrow: making zoning work in Monessen.)

Cotton Crop Up Over Last Month

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Agriculture Department today estimated a 12,713,000 bale cotton crop will be produced this year, up 816,000 bales from last month's forecast.

Today's estimate, based on Sept. 1 crop conditions, compares with output last year of 13,310,000 bales of cotton and 10-year average production of 13,669,000 bales.

Batavia is properly the name of the island occupied by the ancient Batavi, an old Teutonic people. At a later date it became the Latin name for Holland and the whole kingdom of the Netherlands.

"Why doesn't he call?"

Every day, all over America, people who are expected home never get there . . . because death on the highway intervenes!

You've waited up for someone. Everybody has. So you know the relief you feel when he finally does come home—or when he calls to say that everything's all right.

But imagine, if you can, waiting and never hearing. Or picking up the phone to hear a stranger's voice.

Last year, 40,000 American families had to suffer this torture. For that's the number of men, women and children who were wiped out in traffic accidents during 1956.

Traffic accidents can be prevented—if you do something about safety now! Won't you help?

BACK THE ATTACK ON TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Here's how you can help stop traffic tragedies:

1. Drive safely and courteously yourself. Observe speed limits and warning-signs. Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!
2. Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. Traffic regulations work for you, not against you. Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

Doris Mossburg Honor Guest at Bridal Shower

Bride - elect Doris Mossburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Mossburg of Bluff St. was honored at a miscellaneous shower held recently at the Italian Hall, Market St. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Mossburg, Audrey Lupori, who will be maid of honor at the wedding, and the bride-elect's two aunts, Mrs. Peter Manzini and Mrs. Robert Elder.

Decorations were in pink, blue and white color scheme with streamers suspended from the ceiling. A miniature bride beneath a floral archway and an open parasol centered the gift table. Mrs. Thelma VanDivner was in charge of decorations.

There were 100 guests present from Belle Vernon, Charleroi, Fayette City, Pittsburgh, Washington and Dunlevy.

Guest prizes were won by Janice Bauer, Mrs. Mary DeFazio and Mrs. Eleanor Mancuso. Buffet refreshments were served, and the honored guest opened her gifts.

Miss Mossburg will wed Kenneth Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Johnson, Belle Vernon R. D., Saturday evening, Sept. 14 at 6 o'clock in Christ Lutheran Church, West Newton.

Sparkle Nine Club Meeting

Mrs. Gladys Bakewell was hostess to members of the Sparkle Nine Club at her home on Thursday evening. Two tables of cards were in play.

Winning the awards for high scores were Mrs. Bakewell, Mrs. Bertha Forsberg, Mrs. Ina Crow, and Mrs. Clarice Cavanaugh.

The floating prize was won by Mrs. Helen Adams.

Mrs. Bakewell was presented with a hostess gift, and Mrs. Jean Brazack received cards and handkerchiefs in observance of her birthday anniversary.

Luncheon was served, and plans were made to meet in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Forsberg.

Wilma Jean Venneri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Venneri of Grant St. is a patient in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital. She is undergoing medical treatment and observation and her room number is 255.

Dennis Zucconi of Speer St. has been ill at his home for the past few days.

POST 659's OUTSTANDING LEGIONNAIRES — World War I veterans Bert Smith and John Province were presented certificates designating them as the most outstanding members of Belle Vernon American Legion Post 659 as a highlight of the Post's installation ceremonies Saturday night. The awards were made by newly-installed commander Jack Richwine and out-going Commander Andrew Luzanski.

Dog Catcher Is Employed Here

A dog catcher has been employed to work two weeks in the borough of Belle Vernon, and an effort is being made to keep all dogs off the streets. This is a special safety measure for the smaller school children and local residents are asked to cooperate.

All dogs must be on leash at all times. Any loose dog will be picked up. Unlicensed dogs will be destroyed and licensed dogs will be returned to the owners, who will be fined.

Dames of Malta To Meet Tomorrow

The Belle Vernon Sisterhood Dames of Malta will convene tomorrow evening in the lodge rooms for the first business meeting of the fall season. Meetings will now be held regularly the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month.

An informal program of summer activities was held by the lodge rather than regular meetings.

Mrs. Fazio Is Honor Guest

Pamela Fazio entertained on Friday evening at a surprise party honoring her mother, Mrs. Goldie Fazio, at their home on Bluff St. The affair marked Mrs. Fazio's birthday anniversary.

A large group of relatives and friends were gathered at the home while Mrs. Fazio was shopping. When she returned home they surprised her completely.

There was an informal social time climaxed by the serving of buffet refreshments. A large cake decorated the table, and was later cut and served.

Mrs. Fazio opened her many gifts at the close of the evening.

Terry W. Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gray of Wood St., has arrived home from Camp LeJeune, N. C., for a 15 day furlough. He has completed his basic training in the U. S. Marine Corps at Parris Island as well as his combat training at Camp LeJeune. After his furlough he will train in teletype work.

Philathea Class Meeting Here

The September meeting of the Philathea Class of the First Methodist Church was held in the church social rooms. Mrs. Della Forsythe, president, was in charge.

Mrs. Cozie Lewellyn was in charge of the devotional program. She was assisted by Mrs. Ruth Gilchrist. There were 26 members present and a new member was welcomed.

After a routine business session the hostesses, Mrs. Edith Vanaman, Mrs. Charlotte Doyle and Mrs. Bertha Sims served luncheon.

Choir rehearsal will be held at 7:30 this evening at St. Sebastian Church. The group will be making plans for singing responses at high mass after the first of October.

Robert Fulton has returned to his home on Belle St., Lynnwood after being a patient in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital for a few days after an automobile accident.

Primitive manufacture of iron from ore is believed to have begun well before 1300 B.C.

Lions Club Plans Festival Of Bands Tuesday, Oct. 8

A Festival of Bands will be presented by the Belle Vernon Lions Club on Tuesday evening, Oct. 8, at Bellmar High School Stadium, at 7:45. In case of rain the presentation will be staged on Oct. 9.

Plans for the event, the first of its kind to be staged here, will be completed at the regular meeting this evening in the social rooms of the First Christian Church. William Vizza, general chairman, will be assisted by a large committee.

The highlight of the evening will be two performances by the Pitt Marching Band. The program presented by this widely known unit will be the same on eas it will present at the Miami and West Point football games.

Other bands to be featured are Charleroi High School, Monessen High School, Baldwin High School, Uniontown High, Rostraver High, Connellsville High and Bellmar High. The latter will be host high school.

Each of the guest bands will present a 15 minute program. Tickets are obtainable from the members of the sponsoring group or from members of the Bellmar Band.

The Pitt Band has 120 members and their performance is decribed completely by E. Clayton Hartman, stadium announcer for band performances. Undergraduate men comprise the unit, and emphasis is placed upon precision stepping, moving formations and novel dance routines. They wear blue and gold uniforms trimmed with contrasting white.

An operations staff of 10 men is required to handle all of the band equipment and properties.

Robert L. Arthur is director with Ben E. Benack and Dr. Jack B. Anderson as his assistants. George J. Vance is graduate manager of the unit and drills are coached by William J. Svec Jr.

This production is open to the general public.

Former Residents Leave for Florida

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tomick left Monday for their home in Titusville, Fla., after visiting here for several weeks with local and district friends.

The Tomicks are former local residents. They operated a grocery store and meat market on Main St. for several years. Mr. Tomick served as a North Belle Vernon councilman before moving south.

Yesterday the Tomicks observed their 40th anniversary with a dinner party held at Peasant Village.

Card Party Plans Are Announced

The September card party will be held at St. Sebastian Roman Catholic schoolrooms next Monday evening. It will be sponsored by the Ladies Guild and is open to the public.

A meeting has been planned for Thursday afternoon at 1:30 in the school for members of the committee in charge.

Mrs. Theresa Sanino and members of her committee will make pizza for the party. Take out orders may be given to Mrs. Sanino, Mrs. Ernestine Giuliano or Mrs. Millie Angelo.

Kay Semich Is Honor Guest at Shower Here

A miscellaneous shower was held on Thursday evening at the Fairhope Rod and Gun Club in honor of bride-elect Kay Semich.

Blue and gold was the color scheme used in the decorations, and the gifts were placed on a table decorated with a white and gold heart mold and two wedding bells. On the other end of the table was a blue and gold parasol over which was suspended a sprinkling can. A bride doll was used as the centerpiece.

Hostesses were Gloria Steinberg, who will attend Miss Semich as maid of honor at her wedding, and Mrs. Ward Huntley. They were assisted by Mrs. Anthony Steinberg and Stella Semich, sister of the honored guest, who will be the bridesmaid.

There were 90 guests in attendance from Monessen, Belle Vernon, Lynnwood, Westmoreland City, Irwin, Fairhope, Brownsville and Uniontown.

Games were played and winning the prizes were Mrs. Nellie Racey, Mrs. Olga Pozum and Mrs. Huntley. Mrs. Betty Dolfi won the guest prize.

Luncheon was served, and each guest received a candy filled tulip cup favor. The honored guest then opened her gifts assisted by her sister, Stella and Miss Steinberg.

Miss Semich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Semich of Fairhope will wed Robert Zebula, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zebula of Brownfield at St. John Greek Catholic Church, Uniontown, at 9 a. m., Sept. 21.

Bacon won't burn on the new GAS Burner with a Brain. Why? Because when you set the temperature, there's an automatic "sensing" control that simply won't let the food get any hotter.

Mashed potatoes stay warm without drying out. You merely set the dial to a keep-warm temperature. When potatoes reach just the right heat, the automatic burner turns the flame down. If they start to cool off, it turns the flame up. 50 minutes later, your potatoes are still soft and creamy!

Deep-fried food won't get soggy. The secret of perfect deep-frying is having the temperature of the fat just right. With the new GAS Burner with a Brain, there's no guesswork, no need to buy a separate deep-fryer—just dial the right cooking temperature. Fried foods come out golden crisp outside, deliciously tender inside!

Cream sauces won't curdle. Icings and sauces can't overcook because they don't overheat when you set the correct temperature. You can even heat milk with no risk of curdling or boilover.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Cecelia Wagner, who died two years ago today, September 10, 1955.
We saw you fading like a flower
But could not make you stay;
We cared for you with tender kindness
Until God took you away.
To your graveside we often wander
And picture your face so fair,
In silence we stand in sorrow
For the one we loved so dear.
Sadly missed by Children and Grandchildren.

Only Few Weeks to Claim Tax Refunds

By UNITED PRESS

William F. Culliney, acting director of the 23-county Philadelphia Internal Revenue District, warned farmers today they only have a few weeks to claim refunds on federal gasoline taxes.

Culliney said claims for refunds of the federal tax paid on gasoline used for farming purpose for the 12-month period ending last June 30 must be received in the Revenue Office no later than Sept. 30.

That means the claims must be received at the office by Sept. 30 not mailed before Sept. 30.

Culliney said claims should be filed on Form 2240 which are available by mail or at the counter request from the farmer's nearest District Internal Revenue Office. They also are available at the offices of county agricultural agents.

The acting director also said the revised Farmers' Gas Tax Refund Guide booklet also is available to assist farmers in making out their refund claims.

Don't Hesitate

"Farmers should not hesitate to file these claims for tax refunds," Culliney said. "the earlier the claims are filed, the sooner the farmer will receive his refund check."

Last year 1 1-4 million farmers filed claims for refund of the federal tax on gasoline used for farming purposes. This year, close to 2 1-2 million claims are expected to be filed.

"Remember, Sept. 30, 1957 is the deadline," Culliney emphasized.

Irrigation Valued

The prolonged drought in a large part of Pennsylvania this year has provided a dramatic lesson to farmers on the value of irrigation, according to Henry Wooding, Penn State extension agricultural engineer.

Irrigation in the East consists of bringing water to crops during short to medium dry spells during the growing season, Wooding said. And this year, with rainfall in much of Pennsylvania well below normal, more and more farmers have become aware of its value.

In addition to tiding farmers over short, dry spells, sprinkler irrigation used in conjunction with fertilizer has promoted dramatic increases in yields per acre, the agricultural engineer said.

For this reason, it is especially valuable where intensive cropping is the rule. Irrigation now is being applied to a wide variety of high-value crops, including vegetables, tobacco, corn, potatoes, peaches and other tree fruits and even pastures.

Wooding said sprinklers are the most popular method of irrigation in Pennsylvania with the average investment in installations in the state running about $150 to $200 per acre.

Statistics show Pennsylvania is increasing its irrigated acreage rapidly. Wooding said the state now is approaching 20,000 acres irrigated, compared to about 17,000 three years ago. A recent survey indicates there has been a 70 per cent increase in irrigated acres in the East since 1949.

Forest Supervisor Gets Federal Job

WARREN, Pa. (UP)—E. M. Bacon, supervisor of the Allegheny National Forests the past two years, has been apppointed to the staff of the fire control division, Washington, D.C., effective Oct. 6.

John E. Franson, assistant to the supervisor of White Mountain National Forest, will succeed Bacon.

Your Health—

Eyesight Is Big Factor

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Ever hear of "school myopia?" It's a hazard of our modern-day educational procedures and is one of the major causes of eye trouble among youngsters.

Seeing and hearing difficulties of such children, I contend, are behind a good deal of our juvenile delinquency problems.

The human eye finds it difficult to cope with today's demands for intricate near-point tasks with inadequate indoor light. Its natural aptitude is for simple far-point jobs in full daylight.

Nearsightedness, farsightedness lack of depth perception, one-eyed seeing, glaucoma— these are among the most common visual difficulties found in children.

While we believe that some nearsightedness is caused by the shape of the eyeball, another type, "school myopia," comes from excessive close work. Statistics show that the percentage of nearsighted pupils increases steadily from grade to grade.

Serious Effects

From 20 to 40 per cent of our children in kindergarten through sixth grade have some sort of eye trouble. Some of these youngsters eventually will become blind if they don't get help.

Children with eye difficulties generally make poor readers, there's no disputing that. Often they confuse similarly shaped letters such as o and a, e and c, n and m, h and n and r.

While it is true that some of the mistakes are caused simply by spelling ability, some are the result of poor seeing ability, too.

Eyesight tests of some 2,200 children in Grade 3 through 12 show that, in general, children who see well work well; those with poor eyesight do poor work.

Unless it is corrected, poor eyesight will cause visual fatigue. This, coupled with the inability to read as well as others in the class, may well cause a child's mind to wander. He's apt to become a daydreamer and his studies will suffer.

The emotional world that surrounds a child is an extremely important factor in his development. If he lags too far behind in studies, or is much older than the other kids in his class, he is ripe for development into a full-scale delinquent.

The answer to this phase of the delinquency problem, is, of course, to detect eye and ear trouble promptly and to take steps to correct it.

Question and Answer

C.F.: I have heard that even once it is cured, mental illness will recur and can never be permanently cured. Is it true?

Answer: There have been many instances where mental illness has been permanently cured.

In Hollywood—

46 New Television Shows to Hit Network

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Television's annual parade of new shows is underway for 1957-58 with 46 entries panting in the wings.

More than 50 per cent of TV's regular night-time schedules this fall will consist of these newcomers which have elbowed a like number of old favorites into limbo.

In past years situation comedies, quiz and panel shows jumped into the breach. But 1957 is the year of westerns and variety programs.

Here's a breakdown of the newcomers:

Variety—12
Western—10
Adventure—6
Comedy—6
Drama—6
Documentary—3
Quiz—2
Sports—1

ABC is gaining ground rapidly in making it a three-network race with CBS and NBC. Both ABC and CBS have 14 new shows. NBC boasts 18.

The trend is toward more filmed shows—from Hollywood—and an increased number of colorcasts. Not counted in the tabulations are dozens of "spectaculars" (now called "specials") which will be sprung as surprises during the season. Some will run as long as two hours.

Variety-wise ABC offers five new emcees: Pat Boone, Guy Mitchell, Patrice Munsel, Frank Sinatra, and Paul Winchell. CBS contributes one. "The Big Record," while NBC runs wild with six new musical - variety entries, George Gobel, Eddie Fisher, Rosemary Clooney, Polly Bergen, Dean Martin and Gisele MacKenzie.

The plink of honky-tonk pianos in western saloons might win out over the glossy renditions of the musical variety shows if viewers "ain't keerful."

Galloping into the overcrowded west on ABC are four new horse operas, "Sugarfoot," "Maverick," "Tombstone Territory" and "Colt .45."

Saddling up at CBS are two oaters, "Have Gun, Will Travel," and "Trackdown." Over yonder, at NBC it's "The Restless Gun," "Tales of Wells Fargo," "The Californians" and "Wagon Train."

Sleuths and soldiers of fortune go into their acts on ABC's "OSS" and "Zorro." Adventure series on CBS are "Harbormaster," "Dick and the Duchess," and "Perry Mason." At NBC "M Squad" is the long adventure yarn making a debut.

CBS offers three new comedies: "Bachelor Father," "The Eve Arden Show," and "Leave It To Beaver." NBC is trying two, "The Thin Man" and "Sally." ABC has one, "The Real McCoys."

NBC tops the drama list with three, Alfred Hitchcock's "Suspicion," "Alcoa-Goodyear Anthology" and "The Court of Last Resort." ABC has come up with "Walter Winchell File" and CBS offers "The Verdict is Yours" and "DuPont Show of the Month."

All three documentaries belong to CBS. "They are "Conquest," "Seven Lively Arts" and "The Twentieth Century."

Both quizzers are NBC projects, "The Price is Right" and "What's it For?"

The lone sports newcomer, "All Star Golf," flies the ABC banner.

These, then, are the new ones. Some begin this week. Others will appear for the first time as late as November.

In Marrakesh, Morocco, the "Concourse of Sinners" where sultans once exhibited the heads of traitors is now a parking lot.

Boone to Be Busy TV Star

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — Pat Boone, a singer who is hotter than Elvis Presley's guitar, will carry the heaviest load in TV this fall—one-half hour on ABC and 15 hours at Columbia University.

Boone (his legit first name is Eugene), 23, hopes to complete his schooling this January with a B.S. in speech. What's more, if his mental sugars hold out, he'll wind up with an "A" average and a Phi Beta Kappa trinket.

The owner of six gold records, Boone, a Jacksonville, Fla., boy by way of Nashville, isn't fretting about the additional load he'll have to tote on TV. "I'm not going to have a high-pressure show" he said as he munched an a peach. "We'll probably have one guest each week and we'll just build a real relaxed show around the two of us."

Guests A Problem

However, landing guests for a TV show is a major problem, Pat confessed. One way out is "swaps" — so far Boone has arranged to appear on the shows of Dinah Shore, Bob Hope and Gale Storm in return for their appearances on his opus.

"Actually, there are only a handful of really big names anyway who both add to a show and attract a wide audience", said Boone. "You can almost count them on one hand — Elvis Presley, Harry Belafonte, Frank Sinatra and Perry Como.

"But you've got to pay fantastic prices to get them. And I just can't afford that sort of thing week after week. In fact, no one can.

"As for non - performing stars, well, I like watching them on other shows like Steve Allen or Perry Como. But I think you have to admit that most of the time stars don't add much to a show.

No Showcase

"Anyway, I've got a feeling that people will be tuning into the 'Pat Boone Show' because they want to see Pat Boone and not because they want to see Clark Gable. I don't mean to sound conceited by that — it's just that I don't think your own show should be a showcase for other people."

Boone, who has confined his TV activity to guest shots since leaving the Arthur Godfrey stable, isn't worried about over-exposure this fall.

"There are two viewpoints about exposure — Bing Crosby's and Frank Sinatra's," said Boone. "Crosby wrote me a letter a while back in which he told me not to over-expose myself, to be careful and selective to insure my longevity in the business.

"But I understand Sinatra says it doesn't matter how long you're on the air as long as you do a good job. He says people will watch you 24 hours a day if they like you.

"Well, I hope to strike a happy medium, but I kind of feel a little like Sinatra. I don't consider myself a great entertainer, but I believe as long as you do your job well, the public will keep welcoming you."

To Test Defenses

PARIS (UP) — Combined military forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will take part in Operation Counterpunch to test Western air defenses late this month, it was announced today. NATO officials said the exercise Sept. 19-22 will test the radar early warning systems of Belgium, the Netherlands and the United Kingdom.
